Family mathematics are simply overwhelming and arrive at startling results. Over a period of just a thousand years, barring intermarriages and allowing thirty years to a generation, more than eight billion ancestors would be required to outfit just one now-living person. The world has never held more than a fraction of that number of people, and the conclusion is inescapable that every living human is related in a myriad ways to every other human in the world. And too, it is certainly true that you and I could not be here had any one of our ancestors back through the ages to the very beginning of life in this world not lived to sufficient maturity to beget his successor. That unbroken sequence of lives preceding ours must lend some dignity to our status, and should comfort us with the thought that, however humble it be, we each do have a definite place in God's infinite design, else Nature would not have been at such pains to preserve our line through such an infinitely long succession, despite wars, despite pestilence, despite floods, famines and whatever catastrophes. Indeed it would require a wizard in mathematics to figure the fantastic odds against our even having been born at all.

Here in this book are listed approximately 2,325 descendants of one man who was born in 1750, just 200 years ago, and this doesn't take into account the families of the three "lost" daughters of whom the writer could get no trace. It is obvious that had every man born in that year of 1750 produced a like number of descendants, our world could not have supported them. Yet here we are, you and I and the other 2,323, scattered throughout the western states and provinces and in the Ohio valley, still multiplying, while countless branches of other families have disappeared from the earth. Does this indicate that our family has in it some essential element of strength that gives us a tenacity of survival far above the average?

Families have no identifiable beginning and no foreseeable end. One particular branch may cease, but the family in the larger sense goes on and on. In the very nature of things it is not, it can not, be given us to know all our people very far back in time. Indeed most of us know nothing of our family beyond our grandparents and first cousins. But even though the remote past is lost in antiquity, shouldn't we be just a little curious to know who our ancestors were as far back as we can probe, where they lived and why they lived there, and what they did? For doubtless a tiny bit of each of them has gone to make up the person we are today. Such information is not easy to come by. Tradition keeps us informed for a while, but it becomes less and less reliable with the passing years. People die, and knowledge of the past dies with them. We have tried here to get just a slight peep into the past, and to start something that we hope may be continued and enlarged by others much more competent than this writer.

We first find Conrad and Catherine (Conrod and Cattie, as they were familiarly known) in the lovely valley of the Shenandoah after Conrad's service in the Revolution. Apparently they prospered there, but they must have foreseen more exciting opportunities in the newer country and, pioneers that they were, we find them selling that good piece of earth and crossing the mountains with their then children to the wilder waters of the Greenbrier. There they purchased first one plantation and then another in that entrancing valley, and there Conrod lived and farmed and trafficked and lent (and lost) money to his neighbors and, still looking toward the setting sun, staked his more adventurous children and sent them on to the western country. David and Henry and Elizabeth abided on the Greenbrier, and it is interesting to note that they account for only about 127 of the numerous descendants listed in this volume. Rachel too stayed in the mountains, but some of her children went to the plains and their descendants are legion in the Iowa country. Rachel's husband, Eph Gwinn, had farmed with his slaves and traded and prospered and husbanded his resources with true Scotch thrift, so that he was able to provide in his will for substantial sums to be "laid out in Congress lands" on the prairies which he had visited on horseback during his lifetime. Abe went to Ohio, John and Phillip to Indiana, and Abe, Rachel, John and Phillip together were responsible for about 2,200 of the descendants here listed. It would be interesting indeed to know what happened to the three "lost" daughters, whether they remained on the Greenbrier or went west. The latter seems more likely, as we find their married names of Hanger, Maggert and Long in the prairie country alongside that of the Kellers. If they went west, did they multiply as did the other migrants? If they did, there are hundreds of descendants yet to be traced, and I hope that some interested young descendant will some day take the time and trouble to answer these questions.

Few indeed of Conrad's descendants are found in the Deep South or in New England. These people were pioneers, ever seeking new lands, new experiences, ever following the frontiers. And now that the frontiers are gone, where are they finding their interest in life, these youngsters with that pioneer urge in their blood? Apparently some of those who are not rooted to the land are turning to engineering in the mechanical and chemical branches and looking for new frontiers, new thrills there. Certainly you'll not find them amongst the politicians, nor yet among the millionaires. Few of them ever rate headlines. Predominantly they are home-loving, hard-working, church-going, clean-thinking people, taking an honest pride in doing their work well, caring more for family than for fame, more for the love and esteem of their people than for riches. They are of that class who, to quote somebody whose name I don't now remember, do but save the nation. Over the years as I compiled this data I got many a thrill from such notations as "looked upon as one of the very best farmers," or "expert fattener of beef cattle," or "rated as one of the best soldiers." Some, of course, have achieved more worldly success than others. The Evans boys, reared on a small farm in Gallia County, Ohio, in a large family which knew what hard work was, conceived the idea of setting a new standard in the merchandising of food and, starting in a small way, they have grown little by little on the merit of their methods until now they are competing successfully with the largest chains, and they operate the last word in stores in Southern Ohio and in the Great Kanawha Valley. And take a look at Dave Beman, there on his fat acres in the little village of Thurman, Ohio, raising pedigreed stock and taking many prizes as a result of extraordinary skill. And there were the Keller boys in Charleston who conceived and founded The Syllabus Service, a unique service to lawyers, and who established the first commercial photoprinting establishment in West Virginia, results of that old pioneer urge. And again attesting that spirit, there's Ammon Keller in Gallipolis and his son Bob in Dunbar, West Virginia, disdaining conventional indoor merchandising and carrying their wares in rolling stores by special truck on stated routes at regular intervals and profiting from this special service. Another Bob Keller at Hinton, West Virginia, looks after the circulation of a couple of daily papers in his area and writes that area's news, and consistently his dispatches are the best written of any in the newspapers he serves the same persistent story of pride in work well done. In an older day there was Luther Beman, grandfather of the Dave mentioned above, who came to the Ohio country from New England and first, I am told, engaged in peddling. Prospering, he next founded a store which was conducted along such unique and successful lines that its reputation spread throughout the adjoining counties, and again he prospered and founded a bank which handled the fiscal affairs of a large community for a considerable number of years. These are just a few examples that come readily to mind, and of course they have been drawn from the descendants whom I have known personally. Outstanding among those I have known, I have found an abiding love of family and a profound belief in the value to society and to the nation of steadfast, loyal family units, and rare indeed among them is the home circle that doesn't endure until dissolved by death.

If you are troubled because no presidents show up in these pages, no United States Senators, no governors, no financial giants, comfort yourself with the observation that neither will you find any Capones, any Costellos, or any bums to the best of my knowledge. And if you miss outstanding leaders, ravenous for fame and willing to do the things which fame requires, remember those who have earned and enjoyed the undying love and loyalty of their kith and kin and the esteem of their neighbors and don't be too downcast.

The task of gathering this data has been formidable for one who has no estate and who has had to earn his living the hard way, working only during spare hours on this job. Some of the gaps we were unable to close. Some will be disappointed because they have been omitted, but the omission was caused by the failure of some one to cooperate. Happily, the work doesn't stop with this publication. Mr. Earl A. Ross, one of Conrad's descendants who lives at Cupertino, California, is keeping a continuing historical record of the family, and he deserves the close cooperation of every descendant in furnishing him with a record of new births, marriages, deaths, etc. in the family.

Most of the work on this volume was done a score or more years ago and in many instances the data is complete only down to that time. However, Mr. Ross has given me loyal and intelligent assistance in bringing part of the record down nearer to date.

I am sorry that I was not able to advise all the descendants of the availability of this volume in time for them to secure a copy. My addresses were old and I had no way to contact them all. However, a bound copy of this book will be placed in the State libraries of West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and perhaps other states, depending upon the number available, and in the Carnegie Library at Gallipolis, Ohio, and the Upson Downs Library of Colonel Shirley Donnelly at Oak Hill, West Virginia. The Library of Congress will also receive a copy, as will the Institute of American Genealogy in Chicago. Thus the work will be preserved and made available to those who do not own the book. The printing of this book in this form was made possible by subscriptions from descendants at the price of $10 per copy in advance of publication. Whether there can be any additional copies for those whom I was unable to notify can not be determined at the time this is written, but a letter to the undersigned will get an answer to that question. Here I want to thank those who sent in their subscriptions, and it is interesting to note that they came from seventeen states of the United States and four provinces of Canada.

Since your compiler has not had unemployed funds to devote to checking and re-checking the data gathered, it is almost certain that errors have crept into this volume. I am sorry for them, sorry that I didn't have more time and money to devote to it, but at least I've made an attempt to preserve our history before it is irreplaceably lost.

Let me here urge upon all who possess this volume that they keep their family record up to date in the spaces provided herein for that purpose. Thus the book will gather value and become more precious with the years, and some day will be handed down and down as a priceless heirloom.

The time has come to lay down this work. Age and a recent serious heart attack have slowed me down and I can give no more time or energy to it. It has been a labor of love, without profit to me save in the enjoyment I have had from it and from my contacts with the descendants down through the years. Now I turn the task over to Earl Ross, with the hope that he'll find some young person to succeed him, and that the record will be kept on and on

For better or worse, my kinsmen, here it is.

Ben D. Keller.

Fayetteville, W. Va.,
March 25, 1951.

Since writing the above, the last of my grandfather's children, my aunt Rose Grace Bostic of Gallia County, Ohio, has completed her tour of duty in this world and is now at rest after a long and useful and beautiful life. As she graced her home and her community, so was she called Grace by her husband, my good old Uncle Dave; and as the rose sheds its sweetness and beauty on the beholder, so was she known as Aunt Rose to her nieces and nephews. Her presence sweetened the world while she was with us; her memory will sweeten it as long as recollection lasts in those who knew her. Slight and frail was her body, but boundless was her heart and stout her spirit. I am glad that she could visit me a couple of years ago at our little West Virginia reunion of the Kellers. She will be laid to rest day after tomorrow, and I am sorry that my physical condition will not permit my attending the ceremonies. There are roses in my garden and I love them. There will always be a precious memory of another Rose in my heart.

About 1932 the compiler, seeking information about his ancestor, CONRAD KELLER, found a copy of Conrad's will on record in Monroe County, West Virginia, giving the names of his then living children, and at that time an attempt was made to ascertain what became of those children. Extensive inquiry near the old plantation was not very productive, but following the leads given by the Monroe County records and Morton's HISTORY OF MONROE COUNTY, descendants of all the married children except three were located. The compiler was never able to learn anything about KATHERINE, who married ARCHIBALD LONG; SALLIE, who married JOHN MAGGERT; or SUSANNAH, who married FREDERICK HANGER, and nothing except their names will be found herein. Should any descendant of either or all of them see this volume and decide to add the descendants of these daughters to this work, the family would be completed. MARY was an invalid who died unmarried. The descendants of the other children of Conrad Keller are set forth herein as completely as years of work and considerable expense would permit. Some of the family responded readily; others, despite numerous letters, all with return postage, made no reply; and the time of course came when it was necessary to draw a line, and those who are omitted herefrom are left out because of failure of themselves or their immediate relatives to cooperate with the compiler.

CONRAD KELLER was, I believe, born in Germany, although I have been able to secure no definite proof of that assumption. Tradition in the family is that three brothers, one of whom was Conrad, emigrated from Germany, one settling in Virginia, one in Pennsylvania and another elsewhere. A paper now in the possession of the family of WADE H. GWINN of Green Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, a descendant of Conrad, contains a long list of uncollectible notes belonging to the estate of Conrad Keller. This paper, yellow with age, contains some memoranda written in German, no doubt placed there by Conrad, adding some corroboration to the tradition that he came from Germany. Too, a relinquishment signed by E. J. GWINN, JOHN MAGGERT and JAMES FERRELL, heirs of Conrad, contains the following language:

"We, the undersigned, being the heirs of Conrad Keller, do consider that the within memorandum of notes and bonds, together with a great many other notes and bonds which has been written in the German language but has been carefully explained to us by ADAM THOS, who is an excellent Dutch & English sholar, to be of no value whatever." Signed December 13, 1838.

Conrad Keller was, according to his declaration of service now on file in the Circuit Clerk's office in Monroe County, West Virginia, a soldier in the Revolutionary Army, serving three full years under the famous MUHLENBERG, the fighting preacher, who appeared in his pulpit one morning wearing the cloth and proceeded to preach his usual sermon, then removing the garb of the clergy and exposing the uniform of a Revolutionary officer, began then and there to recruit his army. Conrad served three full years with Muhlenberg's famous German Eighth Regiment, his declaration says, and later served two months in the militia under CAPT. DOWNEY during which he was marched to Winchester; and still later another two-month term in the Militia "At which time he was on the Potomac River at a place called Fort Frederiok." His first enlistment was in 1776 or 1777, as he recalls, and was from Shenandoah County, Virginia. This application for pension was dated September 15, 1834, and no record of any action thereon has been found by the compiler. This may be accounted for by the requirement of supporting affidavits which would no doubt have had to be secured from Shenandoah County which was in those days a far journey from Monroe, where Conrad lived the latter days of his life, and died two years after application was made.

Conrad's declaration of service states that he was born in 1750, but the place of his birth is not mentioned. The records of Shenandoah County, Virginia, show that on January 30, 1783, Conrad purchased from JOHN and MARTHA TIPTON 67 acres of land on the south side of the north fork of the Shenandoah River, and that on December 23, 1790, Conrad and his wife CATHARINE (the latter signing by mark) conveyed this land to DR. JACOB COFFMAN for a consideration of 230 pounds "current money of Virginia." Deed Book H, page 225. In the census of 1785 a Conrad Keller, no doubt our ancestor, was listed in Shenandoah County, Virginia, in Spreagle's List, vicinity of Maurertown, Saumsville and Pugh's Run, with "three white souls." I have been told by a gentleman living at Woodstock, in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, that he is familiar with the tract of land that composed Conrad's first plantation, and that it is one of the best pieces of land in that community.

In 1792 Conrad Keller purchased from one VAN BIBBER a plantation on Greenbrier River in what was then Greenbrier, later Monroe County, Virginia, but in what is now known as Lowell in Summers County, West Virginia. Later he purchased a second plantation, adjoining the first, from JOHN SEE. Thereafter Conrad lived until his death at Lowell. During his residence on the Greenbrier Conrad traded in other lands and lots, and engaged in money lending to some extent, much of which he never collected. Despite his losses by lending, at his death Conrad's will recites the disposition of property of the value of $5,000.50 (a very substantial sum in those days), with the remainder to his daughters. Apparently Conrad was a good business man. His will, a document of some length, was carefully drawn, no doubt by a lawyer, and the item "Fourteenthly" specifically says: "Since I have always loved peace, so wish I my children also to live in peace," and goes on to provide for disinheritance of any who might contest his desires as expressed in the will. Another provision says "I do hereby constitute and appoint my trusty friend ADAM THOMAS my executor." The will is dated October 29, 1822, and is witnessed by SAMUEL R. BADER, ABRAHAM CRABILL OF A, JOHN HANGER, ANDREW GWINN and another whose name is now undecipherable. A condicil notes the death of Mary since the making of the will.

Conrad Keller's will, in full, follows:

"IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN.

I, Conrad Keller, of the county of Monroe in the State of Virginia, considering the uncertainty of this mortal life and being of sound mind and perfect memory, do think proper to make and publish this my last will and testament in manner and form following, that is to say:

First. I will and direct that my just debts and funeral expences be paid out of my personal estate.

Secondly. To my son JOHN KELLER I have given in land and other property to the amount of $1227 which is for and in full of his portion out of my estate, both real and personal, so that he has no further claims hereafter against my estate.

Thirdly. To my son PHILIP KELLER I have given in land and other properties to the amount of $977, which is as and for and in full of his portion out of my estates, both real and personal, so that he has no further claims hereafter against my estates.

Fourthly. To my son ABRAHAM KELLER I have given in land and other property to the amount of $920, which is as and for and in full of his portion out of my estates, both real and personal, so that he has no further claims hereafter against my estates.

Fifthly. To my son HENRY KELLER I give and devise, for himself, his heirs and assigns, forever, all that tract of land and plantation I now live on and hold in possession, subject to such conditions and performances as hereinafter stated -- which is, together with what he may have received of me otherwise, as and for and in full of his portion out of my estates both real and personal, so that he has no further claim hereafter against my estates.

Sixthly. To my son DAVID KELLER I give and devise, for himself, his heirs and assigns forever, all that tract of land that I purchased from John See opposite to where I live, the opposite side of Kelly's Creek, together with so much land as I had surveyed off from the plantation I now live on and added to said land hereby devised to my said son David Keller, subject to such conditions and performances as hereinafter stated, which is, together with what he may have received of me otherwise, as and for and in full of his portion out of my estates both real and personal, so that he has no further claim hereafter against my estates.

Seventhly. My daughter Katharine, the wife of ARCHIBALD LONG, has received of me to the amount of $531, which she must for the present consider as her full portion out of my estates, unless something more should be allowed to her in the sequel of this my last will and testament.

Eighthly. My daughter Sallie, the wife of JOHN MAGERT, has received of me to the amount of $530, which she must for the present consider as her full portion out of my estates unless something more should be allotted to her in the sequel of this my last will and testament.

Ninthly. To my daughter Susannah, the wife of FREDERICK HANGER, I have given to the amount of $325. She is to be made equal in her share or portion out of my estates with the rest of her sisters that have received more than her.

Tenthly. My daughter Rachel, the wife of EPHRAIM GWINN, has received of me to the amount of $390.50. She is to be made equal in her share or portion out of my estates with the rest of her sisters who have received more than her.

Eleventhly. My daughter Elizabeth Keller has received of me to the amount of $100. She is to be made equal in her share or portion out of my estates with the rest of her sisters that have received more than her.

Twelfthly. Since my daughter Mary Keller is very sickly it becomes me to provide for her maintenance, and I therefore hereby subject the lands given and devised to my son David Keller to the maintenance of my said daughter Mary, to eat, drink and live with him, the same the said David Keller and his family lives, and moreover to the amount of $250 to be paid to said Mary out of the land given to said David, and also the land given to my son Henry is also liable to the amount of $250 to be paid to my daughter Mary, but neither of the two sons Henry and David shall be compelled to pay the said sums, but only the yearly interest thereof whilst she is aliving, but she is absolutely entitled to give to whom she pleases by will the said $500.

Thirteenthly. It is hereby to be understood and plainly to be seen by this my last will and testament that all my property not herein devised, given, or otherwise disposed of shall go to my daughters and not to my sons, who have received their full portion out of my estates, and that my daughters shall have the remainder in such manner that they are made equal in their portion out of my estate, share and share alike.

Fourteenthly. Since I have always loved peace, so wish I my children also to live in peace, and therefore order and direct that if any of my children should not be content with the provisions, devises and gifts to them given by me in this my last will and testament, and undertake to go to law with their brothers and sisters contrary to my will, such child or children so doing thereby forfeit their whole portion or share herein given to them out of my estates, and such portion or portions so forfeited shall be equally divided among the rest of my children that are peaceable and content with their legacies and bequests by me herein made.

Lastly. I do hereby constitute and appoint my trusty friend Adam Thomas of the said County of Monroe my executor and to act as executor of and to this my last will and testament, declaring this and this only to be my last will and testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the 29th day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two.

"Memorandum of notes and bonds due the estate of Conrade Keller which we, the undersigned heirs of the said Keller, do consider to be of no value and lost forever to

John Nelson. ^W

Many years ago, when the compiler lived at Hinton, near Lowell, West Virginia, Mr. O. T. KESLER, who married a descendant of Conrad, was Sheriff of Summers County, and we became quite close friends. He told me that he had, at Lowell, the original Keller Bible, written in Dutch, brought over to this country, which contained the names and birthdates of the children. At that time I was quite young and had never been bitten by the genealogical bug, and although Os Kesler told me I could have the book if I would come to Lowell for it, I never followed it up until much later in life. When I then made inquiry about it, it was nowhere to be found. Mr. Kesler said the last he knew of it, it was in the attic. Kesler lived, by the way, on the old original Conrad Keller place, and he showed me the location of Conrad's grave -- which is not marked to this day, that I know of. The D.A.R. at one time had a project for erecting a marker there, but whether it was ever done or not I don't know. By the way, the barn on the place when I was there contained some of the logs that built Conrad's original house, back in the 1790s. Lowell is a beautiful spot on the Greenbrier, and Conrad apparently chose the best land thereabouts when he came from Shenandoah.

Conrad's wife, Catharine, was not mentioned in his will, and it is quite likely that that document was prepared after her decease. She is mentioned as Catharine in all papers on record in Monroe except one wherein she is called Catty. Always she signs by mark. A vast amount of search has failed to disclose her maiden name, although Mr. JAMES H. KELLER of Indiana, one of the older descendants, told the compiler that her name was Manning. Although he seemed to be rather certain about it, I have been able to find no corroborating evidence.

While working on the Keller genealogy, the compiler also made some investigation into his maternal ancestry, and was rather startled to find that the general history of one line followed the same path as another. For instance, take the Wisemans. They, like the Kellers, were first found in Pennsylvania, then in the Shenandoah Valley, then on the Greenbrier, thence with the Kellers to Gallia County, Ohio, thence on westward. In the days of Conrad's settlement at Lowell he had amongst his neighbors the Wisemans, the Slagles, the Newsomes, the Gwinns, the Grahams, the Flints and Ellises, and others, and we find these names woven into the Keller line time after time down through the years. These descendants have helped populate much of the United States outside of New England and the South, and they are numerous in Canada.

An evidence of most people's ignorance of their ancestry and their relatives might be illustrated by the compiler's own case. Living in and near Fayette County, West Virginia, most of his life, he was not aware of having any kinfolk there, yet after working on the Keller and Wright genealogies he found that he was related to a great many of the Fayette people, some of whom had been his close friends for years without knowledge of the relationship.

There is much more I should like to say by way of preface, but it is time to get down to the actual record. I hope some Keller descendant will take this up where I lay it down, and amplify it.

CONRAD KELLER, to whom will be assigned the number 1, was no doubt the founder of our Keller ancestry in the United States. He was born, probably in Germany, in 1750, and served in the War of the Revolution as mentioned in the preface. His first plantation of which we have knowledge was in Shenandoah County, Virginia. Apparently he prospered there, for after starting his family there he sold out and bought two adjoining plantations on the Greenbrier at what is now Lowell, West Virginia, where he lived and died and is buried. Several of his children apparently were born in Monroe County, but I have been unable to get the date or place of birth of all of them.

The children of Conrad Keller as listed in his will were as follows, no attempt being made to list them in the order of their birth as only a few birth dates are available.

- 2A - Abraham, b. 1787 probably in Shenandoah Co., Va.
- 2B - John
- 2C - Phillip
- 2D - Henry, b. Lowell, W. Va., March 9, 1821
- 2E - David, b. March 1778, probably in Shenandoah Co., Va.
- 2F - Katharine (m. ARCHIBALD LONG 1813; no other data)
- 2G - Sallie (m. JOHN MAGGERT 1821; no other data)
- 2H - Susamah (m. FREDERICK HANGER 1820; no other data)
- 2I - Rachel, b. Monroe Co., W. Va. Aug. 12, 1803
- 2J - Elizabeth, b. Monroe Co., W. Va. in 1792
- 2K - Mary, an invalid, died unmarried.

2A - ABRAHAM KELLER was born in 1787, probably in Shenandoah Co., Va., and died in Gallia Co., O., July 11, 1846, of "overexertion" according to an obituary in the possession of DAVID M. BEMAN of Thurman, O. From HARDESTY'S ATLAS is copied the following:

"Mr. Abraham Keller, aged 59 years, died at his residence in Perry Twp. his county (Gallia) on Saturday the 11th of July. On the Monday previous, about an hour or two before sunset, he commenced cutting grass in his meadow with a sharp scythe, and with smooth ground and good grass he indulged in the pleasure of seeing how much he could cut by sundown. The consequence was, with the thermometer at 90, he became very much heated and took large draughts of cold spring water, after which he lay down on the fresh-cut grass where he remained until nightfall. On getting up he felt a vivid pain in his back and went to his dwelling complaining of great prostration. Medical aid was procured, but to no purpose. A reaction could not be produced and he gradually sank until the following Saturday, when he closed his eyes in death, leaving seven sons and seven daughters to mourn their irreparable loss. In the varied relations of life Mr. Keller performed his duties with strict fidelity. He had for many years been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church . . ."

In the Clerk's office of Monroe County, West Virginia, there is on file the original certificate of ROBERT CADDAN, Minister of the Gospel, certifying that he married Abraham Keller and SUSANNAH NEWSOME October 9, 1817. The record in the family Bible in the possession of David M. Beman gives the date as November 6, 1817. Susannah Newsome was the daughter of WILLIAM NEWSOME. She was born in Greenbrier County, then Virginia, July 4, 1798, and died in Gallia County, Ohio, March 21, 1851. Some notice of the Newsome ancestry will be found in an appendix hereto.

Through the kindness of MRS. P. W. BOGGESS of Alderson, West Virginia, a direct descendant of WILLIAM NEWSOME, I have had in my possession an original letter from GENERAL LEWIS NEWSOME of Gallipolis to his sister, MARY GWINN, ancestor of Mrs. Boggess, acquainting her with the death of their mother. The letter, which is of one piece of parchment and folded to about the size of an ordinary envelope, on the address side bears the following:

"Gallipolis O
Oct. 21

Paid 18 3/4

Mrs. Polley Guinn
Guinns Mills
Monroe County
Va."

The letter reads:

"Gallipolis Oct. 20th 1833

My Dear Sister

I ought to have written to you long since and to have communicated an occurrence in which your loss is equal to my own, but I delayed, hoping you would have heard it through some other channel, for I much dislike to communicate bad news. I will then (if you have not already heard it) tell you, our Mother is no more. On the 8th day of September last she was called from time to eternity. She lingered a long time and suffered much pain. I long since informed you she had consumption and that her recovery could not be anticipated. It continued to prey upon her vitals, and her dissolution was looked for some time previous to her departure. I went to see her. She told me she knew her stay here was short, that she suffered great pain from a distressing cough, that she looked to the time of receiving the summons with much anxiety, to be relieved of her sufferings, and then directed me about the funeral and all her little affairs.

I returned home, and a few days before her death I met Mr. Keller in the country. He told me she was much better than she had been for some time back. I rested easy, hoping she would pass a tolerable winter. On the Friday previous to her death she was taken much worse, but not so ill as to forebode any fatal consequences. On Sunday morning a messenger was dispatched for me. I rode out immediately, but I leave you to guess my feelings, the horrors of my mind, to find my beloved mother a lifeless corpse. She had breathed her last about two hours before I got out. She was sensible of her near approach to death, and was often heard fervently to address the Throne of Grace, imploring the mediation of Jesus Christ with our Heavenly Father for the remission of her sins. I verily believe her prayers were effectual. Her mind became calmed and quiet and she approached her last with perfect composure and a firm belief that a crown of glory was for her laid up, and that her entrance into the mansions of bliss would be hailed by the heavenly throng with delight.

If the work of inspiration speaks truth (of which I have no reason to doubt) her happiness will be certain. She was a truly pious Christian. Her early life was a life of industry and care; her middle life was marked by her devotion to the education of us all, and our favorable location in life, in which she often spoke of with delight, and flattered herself that her numerous family of children was doing well, and were useful and respectable members of the society in which each was placed. And her latter years were spent in a continuance of those industrious habits that marked her whole life, with a strict devotion to God and a review of her past life, with a view to repentance for all things in which her conscience could reproach her as having acted contrary to divine precepts.

On the succeeding day we conveyed her remains to the tomb amidst a numerous concourse of the neighbors, and two weeks afterwards we had a funeral preached. ROSINA and her husband, A LECLERQ, DR. MAXON, Margaret, ROMAN MENAGER, and many others of my friends went out with me. Indeed if I could contain the sermon on a single sheet I could give you the whole sermon. The text was, "Daughters, weep not for me, but for yourselves," in which the minister personified our Mother as giving a last advice to us, and concluded with an exhortation to us to mind the one thing needful, to make our peace with God.

She left a small sum of money, directed me to hunt up her little bills, pay them, and whatever remained to divide equally among my Brothers and Sisters -- of which I will inform you after I get in all the accounts against her. I think there will likely be three or four dollars apiece.

My family is in good health. JUNIUS and his little wife lives 13 miles from us. He has a very respectable store and is a large dealer in produce. He is making money or profit rapidly. He is very industrious and is much thought of. He is postmaster. It is at Ridgways on the Chillicothe road.

I wish you to shew this letter to sister Sally, and tell her I would be much pleased to see her and yourself, and that pleasure would be much heightened could it be at my own house. Tell Andrew and James they are an unsociable set of fellows that they don't come to see me.

I am, Dear Sister, your loving brother

LEWIS."

I am glad that that letter fell into my hands and that I have been privileged to reproduce it here. It speaks for itself, in language both chaste and stately. During the hundred years and more that it has been with Margaret's descendants, no doubt it has been read again and again.

Paper was scarce in those days. Looking at the back of the document, I can picture a rainy day in the long ago when the fields could not be worked, when the family must stay indoors and time must have seemed interminable. Then one of the household got out the old packet of letters. Only too soon were they all read. ROBERT GWINN must have been there and JOSEPHINE MILLER, and OLIVER and SARAH and WILLIAM and JAMES and LOUISA GWINN, and G. C. ELLIS. Robert likes to write. He gets the goose-quill and experiments on the blank space outside the letter. "Robert A. Gwinn's Hand and Pen," he writes, and then adds whimsically, "if any." Then follows a rough drawing of a hand, with the word "Hand" written thereon so no one could mistake his intent. William writes a little too. That was a pretty flourish you put on both sides of your "W," William. Down in the farthest corner somebody has scrawled "it is very rainy this morning." Well, at last the letter was put away. And what followed, Josephine? Did they all go over to your house? Or to Ellis's? Did you all talk and wonder about the way the letter had come, and did you picture yourself some day reversing its course, going down the old James River & Kanawha Turnpike to the Kanawha Salines, thence by boat to Gallipolis, thence out the old Chillicothe road to the store of Junius? Did some of you later in life follow that route, then on and on across this new country until you found a permanent home? Bob Gwinn's hand and pen are still, but the hands and pens of myriad other Gwinns and Kellers and Newsomes and Wisemans have helped to build and shape and nurture the new country and are still part and parcel of it.

The descendants of Abraham Keller are numerous in Gallia County, Ohio, but only a few bear the Keller name. Westward most of them went in course of time, some to teach, some to farm, some to raise stock, all to take their place in a growing nation.

A daughter, Florence Mae, writes:

"I never tired of hearing Dad tell of his boyhood, how Grandma Keller made the cloth for his trousers, raised the flax, then would weave the material and spin the yarn, and then -- pants. The girls all knit their own hose by the light of tallow candles that were also handmade. He told of how they sometimes, in their real young days, borrowed a little fire when theirs happened to go out, which was very seldom -- or else used flint. Grandpa tamed the hides of animals and made all their shoelaces, harness straps for the oxen, etc. And about the wonderful bread his mother could make on a hickory slab in front of the coals in the fireplace. My dad was a great one to joke and did say one loaf was as large as the hind wheel of a wagon. I have a picture of them when Grandpa ran a mill and Grandma took his lunch to him. Someone snapped their pictures and I think they were the only ones they ever had taken. My father was a farmer and a great worker. He was never idle, and he was very comfortable in his old days. He had never been ill a day in his life until he got a cancer on his face, and that took him in less than a year. He had a host of friends and was always helping people. We had his funeral from one of the largest undertaking parlors in St. Paul and more than 300 had to stand in line on the outside. He had very little education, yet he could do any problem. He was a self-made man; came to Langdon, Minn. at age of 21 and bought a threshing machine after he was there a while. He ran away from home at the age of 14 and joined the army as a bugler, but when they learned his age he was sent home."

Farmer. Farm owner, Democrat. Christian Church.

3-H ROBERT NEWSOME KELLER, b. Gallia Co., O., Jan. 22, 1830; d. there of consumption August 14, 1877; m. August 9, 1855, in Gallia County, Ohio, to ADALIZA PERMELIA RIPLEY (b. Aug. 11, 1837, d. Jan. 11, 1913) of AMMON and PERMELIA (REKARD) RIPLEY. On June 7, 1888, Adaliza was married by J. G. Dameron, J. P. in Gallia Co., O., to THOMAS DRUMMOND. (no children by this marriage). Robert N. Keller was a farmer and lived and died in the Trace Creek neighborhood near Cadmus, Gallia Co., O. Was in Co. C. 16th Regt. and in Co. F. 141 Regt. O.N.G. in Civil War for "100 days service," serving with Squirrel Hunters. Member M.E. church.

As to the family of Adaliza's mother, PERMELIA REKARD, I have no further information. Adaliza's father, AMMON RIPLEY, was a son of JOSHUA RIPLEY, who, tradition says, came from New York State in 1810 and settled in Perry Twp. of Gallia County, Ohio, and was a soldier in the War of 1812. GEORGE CARTER says he was born in 1772, and is buried at Patriot, Ohio. Joshua died in 1860. His children were: AMOS, AMMON, WILLIAM, SANFORD and PHEBE. DAVID RIPLEY, representative of Gallia and Lawrence counties, Ohio, in the General Assembly of Ohio 1838-9, was probably a brother of Joshua.

The children of AMMON and PERMELIA REKARD RIPLEY were: OLIVER, ORVAL (who was a drum major in the 4th Va. Vol. Inf., Co. G., for 3 years, and re-enlisted for another term, and while his clothes were shot full of holes he received no wounds), ADELAIDE, ADALIZA, ADALINA. Ammon's second wife was an ALLISON, and their children were: NAN, ARAMINTA, ANNA, and SANFORD.

AMOS RIPLEY, brother of Ammon, had children: GEORGE, PHILO, NATHANIEL, HARVEY, AMOS, RHODA (m. ISAAC DODDRIDGE), SALLIE (m. a FULTON) and MARIA (m. a SMELTZER).

The mother of Robert Newsome Keller was SUSANNAH, daughter of WILLIAM NEWSOME (b. Northumberland County, Va., 1760, d. Greenbrier County, Va., Dec. 1812, a son of JOHN NEWSOME, b. 1721 in Great Britain, married there, emigrated to America in 1755) and MARGARET SPEECE, daughter of CONRAD SPEECE, who was born in Hamburg, Germany, and emigrated to America in 1726. His then wife, by whom he had two children, died a few days after landing, and he married again. The children of CONRAD SPEECE were: CONRAD (d. 1827), LEWIS (lived in Nashville, Tenn.), SUSANNAH (m. a STEPHENS), MARGARET (m. WM. NEWSOME) and JOHN. Margaret Speece Newsome was born June 6, 1764, died Dec. 27, 1812. The wife of John Newsome died in 1760. He had two sons, WILLIAM and ROBERT.

MRS. P. W. BOGGESS of Alderson, West Virginia, a great great granddaughter of William Newsome, has graciously furnished me with considerable data on the Newsome line, a part of which I quote below:

"WILLIAM NEWSOME, who married MARGARET SPEECE, was my great great grandfather. The Newsomes are of English descent, but Margaret Speece was of German descent. My grandmother often told me that her mother was very proud of her distinguished ancestry. William Newsome had eleven children as follows:

"JOHN, b. April 23, 1783, m. SALLY McCLUNG in Gallia County, Ohio, March 27, 1809.

"LEWIS, b. Oct. 28, 1785, m. GABRIELLE MENAGER, a French lady, in Gallipolis, Ohio. General Lewis Newsome died in Gallipolis in March 1872. A daughter, ROSINA, married a Frenchman named LeCLERQ. She is the only one of the family I know anything about. She often visited grandmother.

"WILLIAM, b. Dec. 20, 1787.

"ROBERT, b. Oct. 6, 1789, m. ELIZABETH GWINN, April 30, 1812. Elizabeth was a daughter of SAMUEL GWINN. Robert lived in one of the southern states, where he owned a large estate. He met a tragic death, for one of his slaves killed him.

"NATHAN, b. July 25, 1791. Wife's name was MARY.

"MARY, b. July 14, 1794, m. ANDREW GWINN of SAMUEL; grandfather of HON. FRANK LIVELY, Ex-Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia, now living at Charleston.

"ELIZABETH, b. Sept. 27, 1796, m. LAWRENCE BOGGS, and she and her husband moved to Oregon in their early married life.

"SUSANNAH, b. July 4, 1798, m. ABRAHAM KELLER, Oct. 9, 1817; went to Gallia County, Ohio, after their first child, GEORGE KELLER, was born.

"CONRAD, b. July 24, 1801. His wife's name was LYDIA. He was a Methodist preacher, and died in Kansas in February 1875.

"SARAH (SALLIE), b. Jan. 17, 1804, m. Feb. 21, 1823, to JAMES GWINN, of ROBERT of JAMES. Sarah died in 1889. She was the grandmother of MRS. P. W. BOGGESS.

"DAVID, b. Dec. 28, 1805, m. July 12, 1826, to MARY HOUSTON. David also went to Oregon when he was a young man and became quite prominent in that state. I have, in my scrap-book, an account of his death, clipped from an Oregon paper and sent to Grandmother. The date of his death was not given. The clipping says, 'The Hon. David Newsome resided in Oregon for many years and his circle of friends and acquaintances embraced those from every part of the state. He did much toward advertising Oregon abroad, having devoted the latter part of his life to writing articles descriptive of the State for publication. I have a story in my scrap-book written by Uncle David and published in the "Literary Vidette", Salem, Oregon, in 1879. The story is cleverly written. I know he was a brainy man. I know more of him than I do of the others, for he wrote to my grandmother and kept her supplied with reading matter.

"My grandmother died in 1889. She was one of the finest women I have ever known. She was sane and clear-thinking. She was the mother of twelve children. She lived for others, not in any narrow sense, but wholesomely and heartily, with joy in their joy and sympathy for their sorrow. I am glad to have the privilege of paying her this tribute to the great great grandson of her favorite sister. In her last years she lived in the past and talked constantly of her people. I so much regret that I did not write down all she told me. She was very proud of her ancestry.

"Wherever I find a strain of Newsome blood I find a bright intelligence that makes me feel mighty proud that I can claim kinship with them".

I have taken the liberty of slightly rearranging the data furnished by Mrs. Boggess, but have preserved her language as nearly as possible. I here acknowledge my appreciation for the help she has given me on the Newsome line.

It is my hope that some other family genealogist, taking up the work where I leave off, will follow up with some history of the life of General Lewis Newsome, which I am certain will prove vastly interesting.

So much for the ancestry for the present. I never, of course, knew my grandfather Keller, but I did know and love my little grandmother. As a child I have been at her neat, cheerful, kindly little home on more than one occasion, and my every recollection of her is extremely pleasant. Before me now is a clipping of the column PATRIOT PIONEERS by ANNA E. SILVERMAN, from the GALLIA TIMES, from which I quote: "We also know that Adaliza (Ripley) married Robert Keller. Two of the winters of my teaching in the county I lived with her, and I shall always remember her with much love and as a most kind and capable woman."

198-E ROBERT ALTON KELLER, b. Cadmus, Ohio, May 4, 1867, d. Pineville, W. Va., April 25, 1917, m. November 10, 1887, in Pierce County, Nebraska, by Rev. Holmes, to

MARY LUELLA WRIGHT, b. Cadmus, Ohio, August 13, 1856, of GEORGE W. and RACHEL (SLAGLE) WRIGHT.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Keller were school teachers in their youth, Mrs. Keller teaching for sixteen years. At one time she taught in the old Gates school house. She was then 16 years old, and young Robert Alton Keller, then 6 years of age, was one of her pupils. Mr. Keller attended the old Gallia Academy in Gallipolis, and Mrs. Keller, in addition to attending the select school conducted at Patriot, Ohio, by the Rev. PEARLY DAVIS and Prof. HENRY BAKER, assisted by Mrs. Pearly Davis, attended Rio Grande College during the first year of its existence. While at Rio Grande she conducted a millinery establishment there.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Keller "went west" in their early life, and both taught in Nebraska and there they were married. Before their marriage Mrs. Keller took up a "timber claim" and lived on it during her teaching. After marriage they lived on a ranch in the sand hills of Nebraska, and there this writer and Claud, his brother, were born. As I remember it, my mother said I was born in a sod house, but that is denied by a cousin, who claims she was thereabout at the time, albeit she was then only three years old. The story of those pioneer days in that bleak country would require the pen of a Rose Wilder Lane to do it justice. Many a rainy evening when the children could not get outside to play, my good Mother thrilled us with tales of the blizzards, the prairie fires, the Indians, the days and days that she was at home with none but her children for company, the time she was caught in a blizzard and only saved herself by stumbling into a haystack, digging out a shelter therein until the storm abated. Indians often stopped at our house, she told me, and one AMERICAN HORSE, sort of a right-hand man of SITTING BULL, famous Sioux chieftain, took a special shine to my brother Claud. We people of these days who whine about depressions and this and that ought to have some knowledge of what was endured by the people who made our country what it is. There are not many men living today with the courage to undertake what my Mother did then. She knew what hardship was; and when, in the course of events, the family fortunes came to a low ebb, she knew what poverty was. She also knew all there was to know about courage -- the courage of battle, as well as the supreme courage required to face, and defeat, the thousand and one smaller problems that met her at every turn. There was no one to applaud that courage! No sign that it was appreciated. Children don't realize; men who marry that kind of women come to expect the superhuman as a matter of course. Women of that type have more backbone, more real courage, in a minute than the best man in the world will ever have. There is a fountain of strength somewhere upon which they draw when it seems that mortal can no longer go on -- and they go on, no matter what the odds. I remember when my brother Bob was desperately sick with typhoid, with a fever ranging around 107 at times. There were four more of us children and a big house to take care of. Mamma had no help. But she saw it through! When Bob was well, she told Dr. Tipton she was feeling a little weak herself, and when the doctor went into the matter he declared that she was just recovering from the typhoid herself. And that is just a little instance by the way. When my sister Katie was born, in Lead City, South Dakota, our circumstances were precarious. At four o'clock in the morning my Mother would leave her bed and take up her daily tasks; not until eleven or twelve at night would she lay them down! With a young baby and four other children to care for, she made with her own hands all our clothing, saw that we were well fed and well instructed, kept us clean, kept us in school, kept our minds employed, doing every bit of the work herself. With a song on her lips, always! I have awakened in the dead of night to hear that voice; I have heard it in the morning before the birds got around to their singing. In her later days she was stricken with cancer. Years and years after the doctors told her that her dissolution was nigh, she carried that cancer in her breast, refusing to yield until she had accomplished her day. Once when she lay in a hospital in a far western state she wrote me a letter in verse -- and good verse it was, for my Mother had a wonderful mind and kept it working -- which turned out to be prophetic. "I seem to wait a sign," she said, "my mission here is done." Not so long after that she was at my sister Katie's, and sent word she would like for me to come up and see her. When I got there she was seated by the stove, with the family, and we talked for two or three hours in the most pleasant manner, with never a sign nor a hint from her that she was in extremis. Before I left she had gone to bed. She called me to her bed, "Bennie," she said, "hold my hand a minute." I sat on the edge of the bed and held that hand in silence -- that hand! That hand that had shielded me, had snatched me from the jaws of death, had caressed and soothed me, had spanked me (tenderly) when I needed correction. That hand that for all the long, tedious, wearying, disheartening years had never faltered. I held that gentle hand in silence for a space, and took my departure. Scarcely had I got to my room when the telephone rang. Katie's husband, Harry, was calling. "Ben, your Mother is no more," he said. That is how Mamma died. That is how, I know now, that great souls lay down their burdens here and go serenely, with dignity, unafraid, to their reward. Why did she call me there that night? She was satisfied, I think, that her time was at hand, and perhaps having, by example, taught me how life should be lived, she wished in the same manner to teach me how to die. Why did she wish me to hold her hand? "To you, from falling hands, I throw the torch. Be yours to hold it high!" No more man could hold it as high as you did, Mamma, but I am proud that I am your son, and when, sometimes, there is a decision to be made when right and wrong, just and unjust, seem delicately balanced, if I recall that evening and feel the strength flowing from that worn old beautiful hand, it is easier to see clearly, easier to act justly and gently, easier to put aside temptation.

My Mother, as I have said, had a good mind. Time after time I have marveled that amidst the multitudinous duties of rearing a large family without assistance she managed to keep well informed on the issues of the day, to have a remarkably clear insight into the character of our public men. She did not want the suffrage for her sex, but she did want to be able to discuss public matters intelligently with her husband and her boys. She was the best letter-writer I ever corresponded with. On two or three pages she could -- and would take the time to -- condense the interesting news that would require double or triple the space from a careless writer. She wrote concisely, clearly, interestingly, leaving little worth saying unsaid; saying nothing idly. She was a lover of poetry, and could construct good, very good, verse herself. In her younger days she had a good voice, and loved to sing at the organ. She had little opportunity for that! Yet the teakettle never hummed in her kitchen unaccompanied by her song. I can hear them yet -- those forgotten airs of yesteryear: "She sailed away in the moon's fair light," "Maid of Athens, e'er we part," "Old Uncle Ned," "My Bonnie lies over the ocean," and many another, not forgetting the beloved old hymns. No whining. No complaining. Once in a while a good cry in privacy; otherwhile a song.

My Mother loved to attend church and to sing her praises unto the Lord, but usually it was the other members of the family who went while she abided at home, laboring the while. I don't think she was a very firm believer in much of the rituals of the church, but she had a deep and steadfast faith in God that seemed then to me, and seems now, sublime. It was that faith, I am sure, that lent her such strength in time of need. I have heard costly choirs in elegant churches voicing in harmony the words of the hymns; I have heard my Mother's voice in the quiet of her kitchen, with no apparent listeners save Him, voicing her praise and gratitude.

Ostentation in the one, an earnest simplicity in the other. The one was passing pleasant, the other stirred the heart in the long ago, and stirs it yet in memory. Her soul hungered for music. How she would have enjoyed a radio! Once, long ago, when an organ was out of the question, somehow it was managed to get her a guitar. How she longed to master it! But she never found the time. In the quarter of a century that followed there were always other duties, and finally the ageing fingers became too stiff. But the song in her heart always found expression in her voice.

"Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand, the sound of a voice that is still."

After the sand hills we moved to Rushville, the county seat of Sheridan County, Nebraska. There Robert Alton Keller, my father, served as Clerk of the District Court. Then the gold fever having struck the Black Hills again, we moved first to Terry, then to Lead City, then to Ragged Top, then to Spearfish, South Dakota. At Terry my father was engaged in the mercantile business; I don't remember what he did at Lead City. At Ragged Top he, with others, was engaged in a gold mining venture -- the Ulster mine. Later, when we moved down into the beautiful Spearfish Valley, he and others converted an old gypsum mill into a cyanide plant for the treatment of ore. My father in the meantime had taken a correspondence course in metallurgy and assaying. That enterprise eventually landed "on the rocks", and from Spearfish we journeyed east to Monroe Furnace, Ohio, where my father lived on the property of his brother, John Keller, and assisted him in his mercantile business. Later we lived for a time at Gallia Furnace, Ohio. From there, my father went to Old Central coal mine on New River in Fayette County, West Virginia, in the heyday of the coal business along that turbulent stream, where he was engaged in the company store; later he became bookkeeper and store manager for the Hemlock Hollow Coal & Coke Company on Laurel Creek at Lawton, W. Va. While there he was elected cashier of the newly organized Bank of Pineville, was cashier when it was converted into the Citizens National Bank, and held that position at the date of his death.

My Mother was a Methodist, my Father a Baptist. He was a Mason. A Past Master of his lodge, and was buried by their impressive service. He was a Republican, and held some local offices. He was an accomplished debater in his later years; was an omnivorous reader and well informed, and exhibited no little skill on the platform.

Both my Father and Mother had blue eyes, and the same is true of all their children. He was a small man, weighing around 150, but she was a large woman.

The children of Robert Alton and Mary Luella Keller are:

- 227a - Bennie DeForest, b. Luella, Neb., Sept. 6, 1889
- 227b - Claud Alton, b. Luella, Neb., Aug. 17, 1891
- 227c - Robert Ripley, b. Rushville, Neb., Feb. 9, 1893
- 227d - Mary Luella, b. Rushville, Neb., Oct. 28, 1894
- 227e - Kathleen Marguerite, b. Lead City, S. D., Dec. 13, 1896

227-A BENNIE DEFOREST KELLER, b. Sept. 6, 1889, in Sheridan County, Nebraska, (postoffice then Luella, named after and operated by his Mother); m. first October 20, 1909, by Reverend John M. Davis, President of Rio Grande College, at the home of the bride's parents in Rio Grande, Ohio, to ADA BLANCHE VANDEN, b. Addison, Gallia County, Ohio, December 1, 1886, of WILLIAM HARPER and EMMA R. (BERRY) VANDEN.

Ben was educated in the public schools of Nebraska, South Dakota, Ohio and West Virginia, and at Rio Grande College, of which institution his wife Ada was a graduate. While there, Ben studied shorthand under Miss Elinor Varney and has made shorthand reporting his life work. Before and during the time he attended Rio Grande College he worked in and about the coal mines of West Virginia, as trapper, greaser, spragger and miner, also as store clerk, scrip clerk and bookkeeper. Shortly after leaving school he was appointed by Judge James Henry Miller as official court reporter for the old 9th West Virginia Judicial Circuit, comprised of the counties of Summers, Raleigh and Wyoming, and since that time has been employed steadily as official reporter of one or more judicial circuits in West Virginia, having been an official in Fayette County since 1912.

Mr. Keller has served for many years as Recorder of his town of Fayetteville, being elected the first time without his knowledge and re-elected steadily since without his consent. He takes active interest in civic affairs, and is a deacon in the Presbyterian church. His hobby is the raising of flowers. For several years he collected pipes, at one time having around 300 items in his collection, before it was dispersed. He has the scarred and charred pipes of many men of note, many friends, who have passed on.

Ada Blanche Keller was ill for seven years before her death, four or five years of that time being spent in hospitals. She taught school in Gallia County, O., after her graduation from Rio Grande College, but after her marriage gave her sole attention to her family. She was an outstanding Mother and wife, and from her superior education gave her husband much training and inspiration. She was a most excellent home maker and mother for her children. She loved company and had a wide circle of friends. She was a patient and understanding and forgiving wife and mother, and she lived a life of excellence and virtue.

Children:

228a - Virginia Vanden, b. Bellepoint, W. Va., Aug. 20, 1910

228b - Benn DeForest, b. Bellepoint, W. Va., Feb. 22, 1912

On February 9, 1949, Mr. Keller was married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hurt in Fayetteville, W. Va., by the Reverend B. B. Brietenhirt, to ETHEL RIPPETOE BROWN, b. March 11, 1890, in Nicholas County, West Virginia, of THOMAS CLAY and MARY ANN (RIPPETOE) BROWN. Ethel Brown Keller was a teacher for 36 years, most of that time in Fayetteville. She also taught in Kanawha and Nicholas counties. After her marriage she retired. She was one of fourteen children. Her father was a teacher and farmer, and also served as a member of the County Court of Nicholas County, West Virginia, also as a member of the Legislature and as County Superintendent of Schools.

228-A VIRGINIA VANDEN (KELLER) BATTON, b. Bellepoint, West Virginia, August 20, 1910; m. June 21, 1932, by the Reverend Frank C. Brown at the home of her parents in Charleston, West Virginia, to RALPH MOORE BATTON, b. East Bank, West Virginia, July 1, 1907, of JOSEPH TILLMAN and EDITH (SPREIGLE) BATTON. Mr. Batton is an accomplished salesman. For several years he has been in charge of a small loan business at Mullens, West Virginia, but has lived at Fayetteville.

Virginia Batton graduated from Charleston High School, and attended Mason School in Charleston and New River State College at Montgomery, W. Va., before her marriage. She also studied stenotypy at Charleston Business College, and did considerable secretarial work and teaching of stenotypy; also assisted her father about his reporting office. She is a woman of rather striking appearance, intelligent, witty and congenial, a first-class home maker and wife.

Children:

- 229a - Carolyn Keller, b. Charleston, W. Va.; Aug. 8, 1933
- 229b - Mary Angela, b. Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 11, 1935
- 229c - Virginia Vanden, b. Oak Hill, W. Va., June 5, 1944

228-B BENN DEFOREST KELLER, b. Bellepoint, West Virginia, February 22, 1912; m. January 28, 1950, at Detroit, Michigan, to RUTH SABLE.

Benn attended grade schools in Hinton and Charleston, W. Va., and graduated from Charleston High School. He later attended West Virginia University, New River State College, University of Miami, University of Wisconsin, and University of Michigan, graduating from the latter school in 1937 with the degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering. He immediately accepted employment with Packard Motor Car Company and has been with that company ever since, now an engineer in the experimental department. He served two tours of duty overseas during World War II as aviation technician for Packard, first $1\frac{1}{2}$ years in the North African and Italian theater, later one year on the continent and in England and Germany. He has also given some study to mining engineering. His hobby is boating, and he maintains a sailboat on Lake St. Clair. Clubs: Engineering Society of Detroit, Association of Automotive Engineers, Crescent Sail Yacht Club. Large in size, genial, friendly, at home in any company. Decided at age 12 to work for Packard Motor Company and began his education on an old second-hand Packard, which he took apart, reassembled and conditioned.

228bb - Diane Lea, b. Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12, 1951

March 21, 1876; both buried in Lewisburg (Iowa) Cemetery. Mr. Surbaugh went to Iowa in 1854; helped build all the first schoolhouses; farmer, carpenter, stock raiser, owned farm, Democrat, Baptist, Mason; served as postmaster, school director, school treasurer. Sunday school superintendent, and ever ready to help build good citizenship for the new country. Home guard during Civil War. Charter member Lewisburg Masonic Lodge. Hobby: home made furniture and violin music. Says Lucy Caldwell:

"They came to Iowa in the Fall of 1854 and moved to a log cabin in the woods; awoke one morning to find themselves snowed under, fireplace drifted full, and father's boots full; it was late afternoon before Mother and two children could get out of bed. Some welcome to a new country, I say. In the Spring they moved on to the home farm, where death called both of them. They had more courage and grit than the people of this day and age, I believe."

Marion Gwinn lived at Green Sulphur Springs, W. Va., until the last 3 yrs. of his life, which he spent in Alderson. An obituary in the ALDERSON ADVERTISER is quoted from below:

"His parents located in Green Sulphur in an early day, when it was wild and woolly. All that need be said about him in those early years is that he was a bright, active, conscientious young man. These traits of character were a heritage that extended far into mature years. He was associated with pioneers, and he took an active part in creating and maintaining the good name of his neighborhood. He evaded no responsibility that would contribute to the comfort of his kin and the building and maintenance of a comfortable and in many ways a luxurious home. He was a model husband, a devoted father, and a good citizen. Through life's changes he maintained a strong hold upon friends of former as well as later years. Like many another, he knew toil and rest, joy and sorrow. He witnessed the bud and the blossom, the leafy branches laden with luscious fruit, also its decay under the autumnal blast. In some cases, ere the time came for the flowers to fade and the green grass to die, even before the high noon of life had arrived, he tasted the cup of an individual sorrow and laid his loved ones in the silent tomb.

"Marion Gwinn was exalted by his neighbors to high places of honor. He was a member of the House of Delegates of West Virginia for two terms and State Senator for one term. He was Justice of the Peace for a quarter of a century. He served four years in the Confederate Army in the late War. His name will linger in the memory of those who shall bear the tales relating to the Greenbrier Valley's energetic founders for long years to come."

The following is quoted from Judge James H. Miller's HISTORY OF SUMMERS COUNTY, which this writer had the privilege of helping the author to compile:

"The first order ever entered in and for the county (of Summers) was by the Hon. Marion Gwinn, as Clerk of the Board of Supervisors."

That Board was composed of Samuel Allen, Joseph Cox, William Haynes and Ephraim J. Gwinn, the father of Marion, and Marion Gwinn was elected and qualified as its (first) clerk.

Later on a controversy arose between the county of Summers and The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway concerning the destruction of county road between Hinton and New Richmond, as to which that company had entered into an agreement to reimburse the property owners affected. The railroad, being threatened with bankruptcy, failed to carry out its agreement, and the county was unable to enforce its contract. Marion Gwinn was finally appointed as a commissioner to settle the matter with the railroad, which he did for the sum of $3,000, "the court and Mr. Gwinn going on the hypothesis that something was better than nothing," as Judge Miller put it. Marion Gwinn was also appointed the first commissioner in Summers County to settle with the Sheriff. In his first race for House of Delegates, Mr. Gwinn received 637 votes, as against his opponent's 20.

The writer knew Marion Gwinn in the latter years of his life, and knew the regard and esteem in which he was held by the people of Summers and Monroe counties, West Virginia.

Mr. Meador was a merchant and farmer, owning farms in Summers and Greenbrier counties. He was a Democrat, and served as the first President of the County Court of Summers County. A Missionary Baptist, he was superintendent of the Sunday School at Jumping Branch for 36 years. In 1856 he was appointed by James Campbell, Postmaster General, as Postmaster at Mills Fork, now Green Sulphur, W. Va. Later he moved to Hinton and, with his brother G. F. Meador, purchased the entire site of the present city of Hinton. He remained there only a very short time, however, going from there to Jumping Branch and engaging in the mercantile business. Shortly thereafter the war broke out, and he enlisted in the 61st Va. Regt., leaving his family with his father at True. During the war he was paroled to look after the women and children. When the war closed he found his home and store at Jumping Branch in ashes, that village having been literally burned to the ground by Federal troops. He rebuilt his store and constructed a water mill, purchased a large farm, making quite a success of his business, and was planning to move to Baltimore (as he found there a good opening) where he went each year to buy goods, but in the Fall of 1872 was stricken with a fatal form of Bright's disease and died six months later. Wm. T. Meador's father, Hon. William Moody Meador, was a representative in the Legislature of Virginia about 1863, and was a son of Josiah Meador, who fought with the Continental forces at Yorktown and later followed George Rogers Clark into the Bluestone country, where he established a home, and in March 1798 organized the Bluestone Baptist Church, of which he was pastor until his death. The membership of the church later drifted toward Jumping Branch, where a log church was erected. That edifice was burned in the conflagrations of war times, but was rebuilt immediately after the war, and the organization still remains, with a membership of over 200, boasting a continuous Sunday School record of over 67 years. Rev. Josiah Meador married Juda Lilly. The children of William Tolliver and Virginia Ann (Gwinn) Meador follow:

469e - James, b. Nov. 6, 1874; d. in crossing accident at Sandstone, W. Va., Nov. 1, 1916. No data.

Harrison Gwinn, farmer and stock man, served twice as Sheriff of Summers County; was President of the Bank of Summers from its founding; Democrat, always active in politics; Presbyterian. Public spirited. The following is quoted from Judge Jas. H. Miller's HISTORY OF SUMMERS COUNTY:

"He was a Confederate soldier, serving throughout the four years of the Civil war, being a member of F. Company and attached to McCausland's Brigade. After the war he located on the Green Sulphur farm and has followed farming, cattle dealing, and the mercantile and lumber business  his interests being large and varied. He is a man of kind and generous impulses, honest and upright, and has few, if any enemies.

"At the foundation of the Bank of Summers (of Hinton) in 1893, he was one of the principal promoters and was elected unanimously its first president, which position he held, as well as that of member of the board of directors, for 13 years, until that institution was converted into a national bank, taking its present name of the National Bank of Summers. At the time he took charge as president of this bank, banking in this country was a venture as there were few in this region of the country, there then being two banks at Alderson, one at Hinton, and the next nearest were at Lewisburg and Charleston. He is conservative as a bank official and director, careful, judicious and reliable, regarding at all times the interests of the depositors as well as the shareholders, and during the administration of its affairs while Mr. Gwinn was president not a single debt was lost, nor had a single depositor a just complaint on account of the administration of its affairs. Upon the conversion of that institution from a State into a National Bank he was unanimously tendered the presidency of the National Bank of Summers, by the board of directors, but by reason of advancing years and other financial interests of a personal character demanding his attention, and the distance at which he resided from the location of the bank office, he declined. * * * Mr. Gwinn still retains the position as a member of the board of directors, but declines any other official position with the bank. He is next to the largest stockholder in the institution. He is also a stockholder in the New River Grocery Company (wholesale grocers) and in a number of other financial enterprises in the county. * * *

"He is an enterprising citizen, a native of West Virginia as well as of Summers County -- a man of gentle character, kind as a neighbor, esteemed by all of the region in which he resides.

"James Gwinn, his son, was the first assistant cashier of the Bank of Summers, but resigned after several years of service, to assist his father in the conduct of his large personal business interests * * *. Wade Hampton Gwinn, another son, is (written in 1905-6) an enterprising pharmacist, residing in the city of Hinton and managing the affairs of the Hinton Drug Company.

"Mr. Gwinn now owns about 1,000 acres of real estate at the old homestead and neighborhood, and the magnificent sulphur spring, known as the Green Sulphur Spring, and is also engaged in the manufacture of lumber. He owns and operates a steam grist mill, deals largely in stock, and takes considerable interest in securing improved breeds of cattle for his neighborhood. He is also engaged in the mercantile business."

The writer hereof knew Harrison Gwinn, and held him in the highest esteem. He was a friendly man and kindly, and although Mr. Gwinn was then advanced in age and the writer a youth, the friendship was a very agreeable one.

469-B WADE HAMPTON GWINN, b. Green Sulphur, W. Va., Oct. 4, 1876, r. there in a beautiful spot in the fine old brick home of his forebears, m. Oct. 11, 1904, at Bellefontaine, Ohio, to MARIE CAMPBELL, b. May 8, 1877, of CHARLES D. and EMMA (KNIGHT) CAMPBELL. Graduate of Concord Normal, and took pharmacy at the University College of Medicine, Richmond, Va. Operated Hinton Drug Co., until about 1910; farmer since. Democrat. Member County Court for 6 years; also served term as Recorder of Hinton. Presbyterian. Mason.

470a - Charles Harrison, b. Hinton, W. Va., Aug. 7, 1905.

470b - James Campbell, b. Green Sulphur, W. Va., Dec. 10, 1915.

319-G VIRGINIA ANN (GWINN) MEADOR was later married to WILLIAM TRACY MEADOR, son of ISALAH MEADOR, cousin of her first husband, and they had one child;

471a - WADE H. MEADOR, who died at Bakersfield, California, May 9, 1900, aged about 24 years, unmarried, and was buried at Weston, Oregon.

Here ends the Book of Rachel, which contains all the data and information the writer has been able, through correspondence and personal interviews over a period of years, to obtain. It will be found to be incomplete in many instances, but no stone has been left unturned within the writer's means to bring it down to date, and if there are omissions, those omitted should charge it to the neglect or indifference either of themselves or their own immediate families.

2-J ELIZABETH (KELLER) FERRELL, b. Monroe County, Va., (now Summers Co., W. Va.) in 1792; died at Ferrell's Eddy, Summers County, W. Va., Feb. 6, 1884, m. in August 1831 to JAMES WILLIAM FERRELL, b. Monroe Co., Va., Apr. 7, 1806, of WILLIAM FERRELL, JR. and NANCY (BALLARD) FERRELL.

The HISTORY OF SUMMERS COUNTY says:

"James (Ferrell) hired himself to an old Dutch settler by the name of Conrad Keller, who had settled near the present village of Lowell (now Summers Co., W. Va.). After working for Keller for some time he married one of his daughters, Elizabeth. Soon after their marriage they settled on what is known as the Old James Ferrell farm on Greenbrier river, back of Big Bend Tunnel (C&O), the farm being bought by Conrad Keller and given to his daughter Elizabeth. Here James Ferrell began his life in the woods."

Lois Quesenberry Ferrell, wife of a descendant, writes as follows:

"From listening to old people talk, I've gathered that Jimmie Ferrell was the traditional Irishman, more interesting in dispensing hospitality and having a good time than was his wife, whose Dutch thrift and keen business ability, coupled with the fact that she held the purse-strings, kept his feet on the ground. She was also older than he was, and probably of the phlegmatic Dutch type, while he was her exact antithesis."

It will be noted that Elizabeth was 39 years old at the time of their marriage, while James was 25. They had only two children, the first of whom died in infancy. The only surviving child was 472a - David Keller Ferrell.

472-A DAVID KELLER FERRELL, b. Ferrell's Eddy, W. Va., Oct. 1, 1835, d. May 20, 1862, of diphtheria. He married (date unavailable) CELIA ANN MEADOR, b. Bluestone, W. Va., Oct. 16, 1841, of WILLIAM MOODY and CELIA (ELLISON) MEADOR, who died Feb. 28, 1888, at Bluff City, Va. Celia Ann, it will be seen, was a sister of William Tolliver Meador, who married Virginia Ann Gwinn, daughter of Rachel (see 319-G), and the Meador data there given is also applicable here.

Says Lois Quesenberry Ferrell:

"David K. Ferrell was taken ill while serving in the Southern Army. A substitute was paid $1,000 cash to serve out his enlistment, so he could be brought home. However, he died shortly after reaching home, so I have been told."

Also:

"Celia Meador was a daughter of Hon. William Moody Meador, member of the Virginia Legislature and a lineal descendant of Josiah Meador, a Revolutionary soldier, and one of the first Baptist preachers, if not the first, in that section of Virginia, (now W. Va.). Her mother was a kinswoman of Matthew Ellison, a famous early Baptist minister of Greenbrier County. E. D. Ferrell has a picture of D. K. Ferrell and his wife, Celia, also a picture of Jimmie Ferrell."

Also:

"Celia Meador (Ferrell) married secondly RUFUS SHUMATE, son of ANDERSON SHUMATE, large land owner of Monroe County, Virginia, and among her children by this second marriage was ANDERSON SHUMATE of Giles County, Va., banker, large land owner and stock raiser, member of the Virginia House of Delegates, at present in the Senate. He is probably one of the wealthiest men in his section of Virginia, and a power in politics in Giles County."

David and Celia had three children, the first of whom died in infancy. The other two:

Says Lois Quesenberry Ferrell:

"Araminta Jane Carden is a lineal descendant of Edwin Woodson, one of the earliest Baptist missionaries to Monroe Co. from Albemarle Co., Va. She is a niece of John Carden, deceased, for many years Clerk of the County Court of Summers County, W. Va., and a daughter of I. G. Carden, for many years Deputy Sheriff of Summers County. Her father was one of the last surviving Civil War veterans of the county. She is a remarkable woman, for, in addition to rearing a family of ten children of her own, she reared most of her Mother's family after her death in childbirth, and has also raised one grandchild from about two years of age. He is now 18, I think (Jan. 1, 1934)."

The children of Erastus and Araminta Ferrell are:

Here ends the Book of Elizabeth, which is practically complete down to the date the work was begun by the writer, who acknowledges valuable and patient assistance by Lois Quesenberry Ferrell, not only as to the Book of Elizabeth, but also as to Keller data in general; and the writer also acknowledges much assistance from Celia Ferrell Michael.

2-B JOHN KELLER, son of Conrad, was born either in Shenandoah or Monroe County, Virginia, (date unavailable) and his marriage bond, on file in Monroe Co., W. Va., showing his marriage to SARAH DEBOY (or DUBOIS) is dated January 22, 1811, with Conrad Keller as surety. Alfred B. Sweet says that John Keller went to Indiana around 1828 and bought a farm from a man named Dubois, near Brownsville, Union Co., and the farm was in the Keller name until about 1890, when Jacob Keller sold out and moved to Carroll Co., Ind. On the 13th of September, 1812 (Monroe Co. records) John Keller was designated as surveyor of road from Greenbrier river to end of Richard Williams' field. On Oct. 5, 1830, John Keller and Sally, his wife, conveyed to Jacob Johnson, 371 acres on Wolf Creek; and on Dec. 25, 1837, John and Sarah Keller, of Monroe County formerly, now of Union Co., Ind., conveyed to Conrad Deboy of Monroe, one-eighth of all lands of which John Deboy died seized, mentioning the following children of John Deboy: Elizabeth Showan, Conrad, July Cox, Catharine Henseminger, Polly Cook, Abraham, Sarah Keller and Jacob. John Keller's wife, Sarah, was a daughter of John Deboy.

The writer has talked with some of the older Kellers in Indiana, and has considerable correspondence, from all of which the children of John Keller seem to have been as follows: (Unable to state them chronologically).

Flemingsburg, Ky., Feb. 9, 1820, of JOHN and SARAH (BRIGHT) QUINN, d. Bainbridge, Ind., Sept. 1, 1905, of old age; both Rachel and James buried at Bainbridge, Ind. Mr. Quinn was a farmer and stock raiser; land-owner; Democrat; Methodist; sent substitute in Civil War. Hard worker. From his grandson, G. D. Leyenberger:

"My grandfather, James E. Quinn, came to Bainbridge, Ind., in his young manhood from southeastern Indiana. His father, John Quinn, came to S.E. Indiana from Kentucky and settled near Connersville, county seat of Fayette County. East of Brownsville he built a 2-story log cabin on a hill near a spring, and there 13 children were born. As he prospered, a brick house was built a little north of the cabin. That brick house, trimmed in stone, stands today in a good state of preservation. James was married there to Rachel Keller. Mary Margaret was a babe in arms when they left the Brownsville neighborhood for Putnam Co., Ind., driving there over mud roads with their few possessions. They settled in the edge of Bainbridge, where he prospered as a farmer and stock raiser. Here Sarah Bright Quinn was born, Oct. 15, 1846, and then John in 1849. Grandmother Rachel Quinn was of the sturdy pioneer type. I can faintly remember her smoking a pipe in front of the open fireplace. She was a good manager and grandfather was a hard worker, so they prospered." Their children:

2-C PHILLIP KELLER was born either in Monroe or Shenandoah County, Virginia, probably the latter, but the writer has been unable to obtain the date of his birth. His marriage bond is on file in the County Clerk's office of Monroe County (now West Virginia), dated April 11, 1807, showing his marriage to Jane Perry, daughter of John Perry, Sr. Also among the records there is a paper in words and figures as follows:

"April 8 in Anno 1807

"Sir: After my compliments, Be Pleas'd to let the Bearer hereof Philip Keller have a Bill of Licence in Marriage between said bearer and Jane, my daughter. Your complaisance will much oblige your very humble servant - JOHN PERRY, Senior.

(Witness) CONRAT KELLOR."

This document is written in a beautiful hand.

On Sept. 21, 1813, John Perry, Sr. and Jane, his wife, conveyed to Phillip Kellor 210 acres on the south side of Greenbrier, adjoining Conrad Keller, Sam'l Gwinn, Sr., Wm. Graham, and heirs of Robert Young.

On Sept. 1, 1836, Phillip and Jane Keller conveyed to Enos Huffman (both of Greenbrier) 210 acres on south side of Greenbrier river (Monroe records); and on Sept. 5, 1836, Phillip Keller and Jane, his wife, conveyed 286 acres on Muddy Creek to John Argabright (Greenbrier records). Jane signed by mark. It is probable that Phillip lived in Greenbrier; and the dates of the latter two conveyances may mark the time of his emigration to Indiana. On the 15th of December, 1812, Phillip was designated as surveyor of road from ferry at James Graham's to Matts Branch, in place of Conrad Keller (which would seem to indicate that at that time Phillip lived in Monroe, as this information is taken from the Monroe records. The writer has been told that the log house built and occupied by one of the sons of Phillip still stands in a good state of preservation.

Phillip had no schooling, as schools were non-existent in those days, and an education could be obtained only from peripatetic school-masters. He was a farmer, and after moving to Indiana lived near Columbus in that State. One of his descendants says: "Phillip Keller was once a large land owner near Columbus, Indiana; was considered the wealthiest man at that time in Madison County, but owing to bad management died penniless." His wife, Jane, died Jan. 28, 1856, and they are both buried in the Cook Cemetery.

The writer has been unable, after diligent inquiry, to secure an accurate list of the children of Phillip Keller, or dates pertaining unto them, but the following information has been pieced together from the best sources available and is as complete as the writer was able to get it: Children:

575a - David

575b - Madison

575c - Henry H.

Leverett Keller enlisted in World War Feb. 26, 1918; sent to Lithographing Training School, Washington, D. C. On June 13, 1918, began service with Co. A. 2d Engineers sent to France where he saw active duty, thence to Germany. Cited for bravery by Gen. John J. Pershing, Ehrenbreitstein Hgts. near Coblenz, as follows:

"Citation Certificate.

Private Levert N. Keller, Co. A., 2d Engineers.

For distinguished and exceptional gallantry at Beaumont, France, on 10 Nov. 1918 in the operations of the American Expeditionary Forces.

In testimony whereof, and as an expression of appreciation of his valor, I award him this citation.

Awarded on 27 March 1919.

JOHN J. PERSHING, Commander in Chief."

During the Meuse-Argonne Offensive Mr. Keller swam the Meuse river under heavy artillery and withering machine-gun fire and made fast a floating bridge; remained at his post in wet clothing until ordered to leave by Maj. Gen. Lejeune the following day. While performing this feat the rifle he carried was shot to pieces and the pack on his back was torn away by shrapnel. His gas mask was useless because filled with water. He was not ordered into action, but responded when volunteers were called for.

Mr. Keller was in the following battles and engagements: Verdun and Toul-Troyon section Mar. 15 - May 14, 1918. Chateau-Thierry, almost continuous heavy fighting, May 14 - July 9.

Soissons sector, Marne offensive, July 18-20.

Meubache section, Aug. 9-21.

St. Mihiel, Sept. 9-16.

Blau Mount sector and advance in Champagne, Sept. 30, to Oct. 9.

Argonne-Meuse offensive, Oct. 30, to Nov. 11, 1918.

Arrived in U. S. Aug. 4, 1919; paraded in New York City Aug. 8. Discharged Camp Sherman, O., Aug. 16, 1919. Worked on a little magazine called the INDIAN, published weekly by the 2d. Div. while in Germany and en route home.

Mr. Keller could have had a job on this side during the war but voluntarily chose overseas service.

His widow was a public school teacher before marriage, and expects to return to that calling. She now lives on a farm which she owns, a short distance from Kokomo, Ind.

711d - Helen Estelle, b. Madison Co., Ind., Aug. 14, 1925.

NOTE: The above is given as the only information the writer was able to obtain about the family of Mary (Keller) Childers - Betterton. He received no responses to his numerous inquiries, and the older members of the Keller family in Indiana, when interviewed, were not able to give him any data. Calvin Childers was the only one to respond, and he did not make certain whose son he was.

Thus ends the record of the family of Phillip Keller, as complete as this writer was able to get it. It is hoped that some direct descendant of Phillip will take enough interest to see that the record is completed, and this writer stands ready to furnish to any such person, at any time, all the information in his possession.

The Keller, Gwinn and Newsome (sometimes spelled Newsom) families all came to the Greenbrier Valley, now West Virginia, then Greenbrier and Monroe counties, Virginia, along about the same time, and through intermarriages became related, and the writer believes it not out of place to chronicle here what he has been able to learn about the early Newsomes. Most of the assistance received has been through the courtesy of Mrs. P. W. Boggess of Alderson, West Virginia (since deceased), to whom acknowledgment is here made.

To avoid conflict with preceding and succeeding data, the letter N will be prefixed to the identifying numbers in the Newsome record.

n-1 WILLIAM NEWSOME was born in Virginia in 1760, son of JOHN NEWSOME, who was born in 1721 in Great Britain and married there. John emigrated to America in 1755 and settled in Northumberland Co., Va. William located in Campbell County, Virginia, where he married MARGARET SPEECE (b. June 6, 1764, d. Dec. 27, 1812), a daughter of CONRAD SPEECE, who was born in Hamburg, Germany, and emigrated to America in 1726, his wife dying a few days after landing. After his marriage, William removed to Greenbrier County, Va., where he reared the following children:

- n-2a John, b. Apr. 23, 1783, m. SALLIE McCLUNG in Gallia Co., Ohio, March 27, 1809.
- n-2b Lewis, b. Oct. 28, 1785, m. GABRIELLE MENAGER in Gallia Co., Ohio, and d. there in 1872. A daughter, Rosina, married a LeCLERQ.
- n-2c William, b. Dec. 20, 1787. (No data)
- n-2d Robert, b. Oct. 6, 1789, m. ELIZABETH GWINN, of Samuel, Apr. 30, 1812 (see s-2g) and lived in the South; owned large estate; was killed by one of his slaves.
- n-2e Nathan, b. July 25, 1791. His wife's name was Mary. No further data.
- n-2f Mary, b. July 14, 1794, m. ANDREW GWINN of Samuel; (see s-2c)
- n-2g Elizabeth, b. Sept. 27, 1796, m. LAWRENCE BOGGS and moved to Oregon in early life.
- n-2h Susannah, b. July 4, 1798, m. ABRAHAM KELLER, and went to Gallia Co., Ohio. (see 2-a)
- n-2i Conrad, b. July 24, 1801, d. in Kansas Feb. 1875; was a Methodist preacher in the West. His wife's name was Lydia. (No further data)
- n-2j Sarah, b. Jan. 17, 1804, m. Feb. 21, 1823, to JAMES GWINN, of Robert of James. (See j-3h) Sarah died in 1889.
- n-2k David, b. Dec. 28, 1805, m. July 12, 1826, to MARY HOUSTON; moved to Oregon in early life and became prominent; writer of some note.

John Newsome, father of William, died in 1761. His wife died in 1760. They had another son, Robert, as to whom we have been able to secure no data.

Conrad Speece had two children by his first wife, then married again. His children were: Conrad, who died in 1827; Lewis, who lived in Nashville, Tenn.; Susannah, who married a STEPHENS; Margaret, who married William Newsome (see above); and John.

The writer was told by Mrs. Boggess that J. N. Creed, a great grandson of Robert Newsome, and Mrs. V. G. Braham, a great granddaughter, live at Aux Vasse, Mo., but his communications were not responded to.

The Gwinn family in America is a very numerous one, and touches the Keller line in several places. In the gathering of Keller data, considerable Gwinn history has come to the hands of the writer and, while it has no place in a Keller genealogy, strictly speaking, we believe the data collected should not be allowed to go to waste, and inasmuch as we have no intention of collecting complete Gwinn data, we have determined to preserve what we have in this appendix, especially for the benefit of those who descend from both lines.

We have consulted, among many other records, Judge James H. Miller's HISTORY OF SUMMERS COUNTY, published in 1907, which this writer assisted in preparing, Oren F. Morton's HISTORY OF MONROE COUNTY, and, last but not least, the pungent and informative manuscript of Addison R. Gwinn, written in the 82d year of his age, a mimeographed copy of which was presented to the writer by Andrew L. Campbell, Esq., a great grandson of Samuel Gwinn, Sr., who now lives near Talcott, W. Va., on a beautiful Greenbrier river farm, and raises blooded cattle.

The name is spelled in various ways. While the most common spelling is Gwinn, the variations are Guinn, Gwin, Guin, Gwyn, Gwynn, Gwynne, Gawen, and perhaps others. Mr. Morton says that it is a Welch name, meaning "white" or "candid," and that the family coat-of-arms bears the legend "vim vi pellerelicet," meaning "It is permissible to oppose force with force." A David Gwinn, says he, was ruler of a subdivision of Wales, and Sir Rowland Gwinn was the author of the compact to stand by William of Orange when he was invited to become King of England in 1688. Mr. Morton says that a Robert Gwin settled on the Calfpasture river in Virginia about 1745, coming from North Carolina; although he was probably of foreign birth, and that his sons were David, James, Robert, Simon, Samuel and Joseph. James and Samuel, he says, came about 1770 to the Greenbrier River at the mouth of Kelly's (or Keller's) Creek in Monroe County, then Virginia, now Summers County, West Virginia, and that a house built by Samuel there is yet in a good state of preservation. Mr. Morton does not say how he gathered this information.

The accounts of the origin of the family we are concerned with do not coincide. Addison R. Gwinn, in his manuscript above referred to, says that he became acquainted, in 1848, with the youngest daughter of David Gwinn, father of Samuel and James, then past 80 years of age. She was a Mrs. Hogshead of Augusta County, Virginia. I quote from his account:

"The Gwinns are of Scotch-Irish descent, although Gwinn is an English name, spelled "Gwynne." At an early date a good many of the Gwinns became lords, and some of them got mixed up with the Queen Victoria blood, but that says nothing. So David and Samuel started for America. At that time it took several months to cross the ocean. On the way, the ship was wrecked and Samuel was drowned, and David was cast on a coral reef with many others and was there for several days until rescued by lifeboats and brought to America. David drifted to Augusta County in the Valley of Virginia, and there married an English woman and raised a large family."

Judge Miller says: "Samuel was the first person of that (Gwinn) name to settle in this county, and the evidence seems to show that he, with the Gwinns and Grahams, came together from the same section in Ireland to this country, and first located in the same neighborhood, on the Calfpasture River in Virginia, from thence moving across the Alleghanies to the Greenbrier, near Lowell, his emigration gradually proceeding west after the danger from Indian depredations had partially disappeared, and at the termination of the Revolutionary War."

Without attempting definitely to settle the history of David, but leaving that with such evidence as we have, let us come down to the two sons who, we are certain, did settle on the Greenbrier, gathering together the data we have and following the families down the line as far as we may within the limits of our time and space. We must leave out of consideration one MATHEW GWINN, a member of the Greenbrier grand jury in 1780, and listed among the residents in 1782. Nowhere have I found any reference to this Mathew or his connection with James and Samuel. Whence he came I know not, neither have I encountered any recognizable reference to his descendants.

In tracing the descendants of David, we shall notice only the families of his two sons Samuel and James, of whom we have definite record. To avoid confusion we shall prefix to the identifying numbers of the family of Samuel the letter S, and to those of the family of Joseph the letter J.

- s-1 SAMUEL GWINN, son of David, married the widow GRAHAM, nee LOCKRIDGE, and they had issue:
- s-2a Samuel
- s-2b Moses
- s-2c Andrew (m. MARY NEWSOME; see n-2f)
- s-2d John
- s-2e Ephraim (m. RACHEL KELLER; see 2-i)
- s-2f Ruth
- s-2g Elizabeth (m. ROBERT NEWSOME, n-2d, April 30, 1812, and went to Callaway Co., Mo. No data.)
- s-2h Isabella (m. THOMAS BUSBY and went to Madison Co., Indiana. No data.)
- s-2i Jane, (m. JAMES WITHROW and went to Ripley County, Indiana. No data.)

"When Samuel Gwinn, brother of Jimmie, crossed the Alleghanies," says Addison Gwinn, "he first settled on the Greenbrier River, one-half mile below Lowell. He had to go through all the hardships of a pioneer life. Later on, he sold out in Monroe County to his sons and settled on Lick Creek (now Summers County, W. Va.) and became quite wealthy. He lived to be about 94 years of age."

"The thrift of Samuel, Sr.," says Mr. Morton, "may be seen in the circumstance that in the course of his long life, although living in a poor frontier community, he became able to divide $12,000 in specie among his sons, Andrew and Samuel Jr., taking each a half-bushel of coin and carrying it by pack-saddle to their home beyond Keeney's Knob."

Says Judge Miller: "It is told of this Mr. Gwinn that, while he was attending to some business in Lewisburg, he fell in with some gamblers who induced him to enter a game of cards. Knowing that he had plenty of money, they permitted him to win the first few games, then proceeded to double the bet to which he replied that his mother told him it was a wise man who knew when to quit. So saying, he arose from the table and bade the gamblers good-day."

The will of Samuel Gwinn (spelled Guinn in the opening paragraph, as indeed it is spelled in many early documents) was executed July 11, 1832, and the writer has seen the original, aged and yellow, at the beautiful old home of Wade H. Gwinn at Green Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He leaves $3,014 in cash to the care and management of his sons Samuel, Andrew and Ephraim, to be "laid out in Congress lands in the Western country, at Congress prices, for the exclusive use and benefit of my grandsons, the sons of Moses, Samuel, Andrew, John and Ephraim, to be equally divided (or the value thereof between each of them." He then disposes of nine slaves, six of them to grandsons named Samuel and three to his daughters, as follows:

To Samuel of Samuel, negro boy Tecumsey

Samuel of Moses, negro boy Hiram

Samuel of Andrew, negro boy Jingo

Samuel of John, negro boy David

Samuel Jarrett, a negro boy

Ruth Jarrett, a negro girl, Elsa Ann

Isabella Busby, a negro boy

Betsey Newsome, a negro boy, Lewis, aged about 2 years.

The remainder of his property is left to all his children, to be divided equally. The body of the will is witnessed by J. W. P. Stevens and P. B. Wethered; and a codicil, dated the 24th of September, 1834, appointing his sons Samuel, Andrew and Ephraim as his executors and modifying the terms of the will, is witnessed by Mr. Wethered and Enoch Ellis.

s-2a SAMUEL GWINN married ELIZABETH TAYLOR in 1803, and had issue:

s-3a Jesse -- to Indiana in youth; large family; no data.

s-3b James -- to Indiana in youth; large family; no data.

s-3c John, (m. FLORA GRAHAM, and raised large family.)

s-3d Samuel (m. SALLY GWINN, 2d. cousin; see under James) s-3e Andrew (Long Andy, m. ELIZA KELLER. See 310-c) s-3f Laban (m. 1st. MALINDA ELLIS; m. 2d. the widow TAYLOR, see BONHAM. S.F. and J. W. were sons).

s-3g Polly (Mary. m. ALEXANDRA GWINN and went west.)

s-3h Jane (m. WILLIAM HANGER)

s-3i Sally, (m. JAMES MILBURN)

s-3j Julianne, (m. 1st. JOHN ELLIS; 2d. JAMES JARRETT)

s-3k Ruth (m. JOHN ROACH; 4 or 5 children)

s-3l Nancy (m. ISAAC MILBURN; lived in Indiana.)

s-2b MOSES GWINN married MARY SARGENT and lived in Fayette County, W. Va. The list of children following, obtained from conveyances on record, may not be complete, but is the best list now obtainable:

s-4a Nancy (m. RICHARD A FLANAGAN)

s-4b Avis, (m. JOHN HINTON)

s-4c Elizabeth (m. SAMUEL COFFMAN)

s-4d Lewis W.

s-4e Andrew s-4f William (d. at Meadow Creek, W. Va. His sons Samuel F. and William were merchants there. There was another son, Everett, and a daughter who married JOHN QUINN of Missouri.)

s-4g Enos

s-4h Rebecca.

s-2c ANDREW GWINN married MARY NEWSOME, b. July 14, 1794 (see n-2f), of WILLIAM and MARGARET (SPEECE) NEWSOME. Andrew went through the War of 1812 as Captain, and with the money he received for his services bought a good farm near Lowell, now Summers County, W. Va. Their children:

- s-5a Thomas B.
- s-5b Samuel, (m. LUCY BURDETTE)
- s-5c William, (m. SALLIE SNAPP; probably lived in Fayette)
- s-5d Andrew J. (m. ELIZABETH GWINN, went to Illinois.)
- s-5e Junius (?)
- s-5f Robert B., (m. REBECCA MADDY).
- s-5g Emma, (m. ROBERT JOHNSON)

| s-6l Clyde A., | b. Nov. 30, 1879 |
| s-6m Clete A., | b. Feb. 18, 1881 |

Mr. Gwinn was a Confederate soldier, first in Edgar's Battery, later in Thurmond's. He served as magistrate, and was a substantial farmer and citizen.

s-5j ELIZABETH GWINN was married Jan. 18, 1848, near Lowell, W. Va., to CLEMENS I. CAMPBELL, b. near Red Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 3, 1821. Mr. Campbell was a farmer and stockman, and a substantial citizen. He died Jan. 17, 1873, his wife Dec. 8, 1880. Children:

- s-7a Elizabeth O.
- s-7b Mary R., (m. M. A. MANNING)
- s-7c Charles C.
- s-7d Sarah E.
- s-7e Elizabeth G.
- s-7f Lewis R.
- s-7g John C.
- s-7h Andrew L.
- s-7i Wilber G.

s-7h ANDREW L. CAMPBELL, b. near Gap Mills, W. Va., Feb. 16, 1865, m. May 25, 1887, to ELIZA MCKENDREE WEBB at Barger Springs. Mr. Campbell moved to Summers County

Sept. 17, 1886; served several terms as County Surveyor of that county. Owns a fine farm on the Big Bend of Greenbrier and raises blooded stock. He is a staunch Democrat, and an elder in the Lowell Presbyterian Church. Practises scientific farming; is also a surveyor and engineer. Children:

s-8a	Carrie L.,	b. May 19, 1888
s-8b	Isaao,	b. Sept. 9, 1889
s-8c	Calvin I.,	b. Mar. 23, 1891
s-8d	Ethel E.,	b. Aug. 18, 1893
s-8e	Jemmings Bryan,	b. Jun. 16, 1895
s-8f	William P.,	b. Nov. 19, 1897
s-8g	Howard M.,	b. Dec. 27, 1900
s-8h	Myrian A.,	b. Dec. 8, 1902
s-8i	Adrian Bernice,	b. Feb. 24, 1905
s-8j	Charles Basil,	b. Feb. 24, 1905

s-5k ELIZA GWINN married COL. WILSON LIVELY, b. 1815, d. 1865, of Cottrell, Jr. and Sarah (MADDY) Lively. Col. Lively was prominent in public affairs; served as Sheriff of Monroe County and in the Legislature of Virginia 1861-64 with John M. Rowan. He was an intense Southern man, but opposed secession; but, loyal to his commonwealth, when it seceded he went along. He was a member of the Virginia State Senate when Richmond fell and Lee surrendered. He was at Farmville, on his way back to Richmond, when the news reached him of the evacuation of Richmond and the surrender at Appomattox and the shock was so great that he died within two hours.

One daughter married BUNYAN L. KESLER and another HENRY F. KESLER, of Lowell. Another daughter, Bettie M. B., married Professor JAMES FRENCH HOLROYD, a noted educator, long connected with Concord State Normal School at Athens, W. Va.

HON. FRANK LIVELY, son of Col. Wilson Lively, was born at Lowell, W. Va., Nov. 18, 1864; attended the free schools, then Concord State Normal, graduating there with honors in 1882. He then took a supplemental course and the law course at West Virginia University, from which he graduated with the degree of LL.D. in 1884. He has served as prosecuting attorney of Summers County, as Assistant Attorney General and as Pardon Attorney of the State of West Virginia, and also served with great distinction as a Judge of the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals. He is now practising law at Charleston, W. Va., with his son, William W. Lively.

s-2d JOHN GWINN married SARAH GEORGE, and probably lived in Fayette County, W. Va. Their children:

s-9a	Harrison
s-9b	Lockridge (m. Elizabeth)
s-9c	Eldridge (m. Cynthia A.)
s-9d	Breckinridge
s-9e	John
s-9f	Laban (m. Mary J.)
s-9g	Francina
s-9h	Kate
s-9i	Cynthia (and probably 3 other daughters.)

s-2f RUTH GWINN married JAMES JARRETT. Children:
s-10a Samuel (lived in Greenbrier; unm.)

- s-10b Elizabeth (went to Missouri)
- s-10c Delilah (died in Indiana)
- s-10d Ira (d. 1851 in Greenbrier)
- s-10e Joseph (lived in Greenbrier)
- s-10f Andrew (died in Missouri)
- s-10g Jacob (died in infancy)
- s-10h James (lived in Greenbrier)
- s-10i Ruth (d. Lewisburg, W. Va., 1853)
- s-10j Rosanna (lived in Monroe Co., W. Va.)
- s-10k Evaline (died in 1850)
- s-10l Margaret (lived in Greenbrier)
- s-10m Sidney C.

The Jarrets were among the very first people to come to Greenbrier county and were two or three times driven off by the Indians while effecting a settlement there, in which they finally succeeded. They were prominent in the affairs of the county. Samuel and Joseph were made political prisoners in 1862 by the Federals, although not taking part in the war. They were sent to Camp Chase, O., and held 6 months, when they were returned home and not again molested.

J A M E S

We will now follow the family of James Gwinn, son of David.

- j-1 JAMES GWINN married NANCY CARLISLE, and their children were:
- j-2a Robert
- j-2b James, (m. POLLY FROG; went west early; said to have been first white child born in Monroe Co. after Clendennin Massacre.)
- j-2c Samuel, (m. MAGDALEN JOHNSON; went West 1830)
- j-2d Joseph

The A. R. Gwinn manuscript says:

"James located his 'brush heap' right about one mile below Union, the county seat of Monroe County, on the land now owned by the McDowell heirs. James married NANCY CARLISLE, and there my grandfather was born. James remained there only a few years and then crossed Swope's Knob and located on the place now owned by Laban Gwinn's heirs. He built a block house and went to clearing up his land. That was about the year 1772 or 1773.

"At an early date all of the Gwimms west of the Alleghanies lived in Greenbrier county. About the year 1799 there was a line run through Greenbrier County. South of this line was named Monroe, for President Monroe, which they are proud of."

j-2a ROBERT GWINN married SALLY THOMPSON, who was raised on the place now owned by John Hodge's heirs, says A. R. Gwinn. Robert was born and partly raised on the land now owned by the McDowell heirs, near Union. Children:

- j-3a Alexander, m. MARY GWINN, or POLLY (see s-3g), went west and is now dead.
- j-3b Salathiel, m. MARGARET BLACK, sister of Rev. Samuel BLACK, raised a large family and lived and died in Fayette Co., W. Va. Salathiel was a mighty hunter.

- j-3c Robert, m. NANCY ELLISON of Indiana, and raised a large family. All of his sons were in the Federal Army during the Civil War, two of them as colonels and one as a captain.
- j-3d Thompson, m. RACHEL HARRAH in 1841 and moved to Kanawha Co., W. Va. GRANT HALL of Charleston, W. Va., prominent in public affairs in W. Va. is a grandson.
- j-3e Margaret, m. NATHAN VINEY, moved to Missouri and had 5 children, all now dead.
- j-3f Jane, m. JOHN PINE, and had 2 girls, the mother dying when one girl was 2 days old, and the children were reared by their grandmother.
- j-3g Elizabeth, m. W. C. RINER in 1845.
- j-3h James, m. SARAH NEWSOME. (See n-2j.)

j-3h JAMES GWINN, b. Monroe Co., W. Va., Sept. 6, 1798, was married in that county to SARAH NEWSOME (n-2j), b. Jan. 17, 1804, of William and Margaret (SPEECH) Newsome, the marriage bond being dated Feb. 21, 1823. Mr. Gwinn owned hundreds of acres of Monroe and Summers county land, served as justice of the peace for many years; was a Democrat, Presbyterian Elder 50 years; was well-informed and read over a large field. Children:

- j-4a Caroline, b. Dec. 14, 1823, d. Monroe Co., W. Va., Mar. 8, 1903, m. THOMAS MCHUFFMAN and reared a large family.
- j-4b James Newsome, b. July 24, 1840, d. July 7, 1844.
- j-4c Norman D., b. July 3, 1825, died in Army from brain fever, m. JANE HAYNES. No issue.
- j-4d Addison R.
- j-4e Andrew Lewis, b. July 5, 1829, m. MARY BONHAM and had six children.
- j-4f Oliver Wilson, b. Oct. 14, 1833, d. 1906, m. SUE LEMONS and had 1 son, OTEY.
- j-4g William Alexander
- j-4h J. Henderson, b. Mar. 1, 1845, killed in battle at Winchester, 1864.
- j-4i Edgar Scott, b. July 1, 1850, killed by fall of tree on Harry Haynes place, Talcott, W. Va., Sept. 29, 1901. Unmarried.
- j-4j Louisa M., b. Aug. 16, 1830, m. ANDREW WILLEY and had 3 children.
- j-4k Wallace Newton, b. Apr. 16, 1836; d. July 11, 1844.
- j-4l Agnes Sarah, b. Dec. 25, 1842; d. July 2, 1844.

James Newsome, Wallace Newton and Agnes Sarah, all of whom died in early July 1844, were victims of scarlet fever.

Norman D., Addison R., Andrew Lewis, Oliver Wilson, William Alexander and J. Henderson were all in the Confederate Army at one time.

j-4d ADDISON R. GWINN, was born in Monroe County, Va., May 1, 1827. He was married first in Monroe County on Apr. 16, 1857, to ESTALINE ELLIS, who died Oct. 26, 1876. Their children:

- j-5a Cora H., b. Jan. 27, 1858
- j-5b Roberta J., b. Apr. 27, 1860
- j-5c Mary S., b. Nov. 3, 1862
- j-5d James W., b. June 6, 1865
- j-5e George E., b. Jan. 1, 1868
- j-5f Sarah E., b. Mar. 18, 1870
- j-5g Robert F., b. Jan. 3, 1872
- j-5h Infant, b. Oct. 20, 1876 (deceased)

Addison's second marriage, Apr. 18, 1878, in Monroe County, W. Va., was to BETTIE HINTON b. Monroe Co., Mar. 1, 1841, of David and Anna B. (MADDY) Hinton. 1 child:

- j-5i Anna A., b. Oct. 11, 1880.

j-4g WILLIAM ALEXANDER GWINN was b. Monroe Co., Va., Mar. 22, 1836, d. Lowell, W. Va., May 2, 1915; m. Aug. 28, 1866, in Greenbrier Co., W. Va., to FRANCES McCUTCHEON, b. Fayette Co., W. Va., Nov. 3, 1838, of Robert and Abbie (ALDERSON) McCutcheon, d. Hinton, W. Va., Mar. 10, 1917. Mr. Gwinn was a farmer and land-owner; Democrat; Presbyterian; soldier in the Confederate Army; taken prisoner in Droop Mountain fight Nov. 6, 1863; returned home July 8, 1865. Children:

NOTE: No attempt has been made to bring the Gwinn data down to date, or further than to show the early intermarriages among the Gwinns, Newsomes and Kellers. The data here set out is deficient as to dates in most instances, but it may be of value to future investigators in identifying the early Gwinn families.

Because the grandfather of the writer was a Wright, and because there were other intermarriages among the Wrights, Kellers and Wisemans, we set forth in this appendix the data we have with reference to the Wright family. Our information concerning the early Wrights was obtained largely from Elizabeth (Wright) Ansink, aunt of the writer, during her lifetime, and from Florence (Wright) Gifford.

We begin with FRANCIS WRIGHT (d. 1767), to whom we will assign the number w-1a, who had a son (w-2a) BENJAMIN WRIGHT (d. 1799; wife ELIZABETH), living in Amherst County, Virginia, whose son (w-3a) MOSES WRIGHT married ELIZABETH WHITEHEAD and lived and died in Amherst Co., Va. This Moses was a Revolutionary soldier, enlisting in Capt. James Franklin's company of "foot," 10th Va. Regt., later in Capt. John Steed's company. (See Vol. LXXIX DAR Lineage Records, 1926, numbers 47,092, 58,772 and 78,542.)

w-4a BENJAMIN WRIGHT, a son of the last-named Moses, was born in Amherst Co., Va., and married first on Feb. 2, 1805, NANCY CAMPBELL. They had the following children:

- w-5a Wyatt, who m. ELIZA PORTER
- w-5b James
- w-5c Charles
- w-5d George Washington, who m. RACHEL SLAGLE
- w-5e Moses, who m. ELLEN J. PORTER and TEMPA DILLON
- w-5f Lovisa, who m. LEWIS WICKLINE
- w-5g Jesse
- w-5h Rhoda, who m. a PROSE
- w-5i Infant, who died with mother at birth.

Benjamin's second wife was DICEY CAMPBELL, a cousin of his first wife, who was 15 years of age at the date of their marriage. Their children:

- w-5j Alexander
- w-5k Nancy
- w-5l Benjamin
- w-5m Burwell
- w-5n Elizabeth
- w-5o Sophia
- w-5p Marvel
- w-5q Melander
- w-5r Daniel Lewis
- w-5s Birch
- w-5t Dicey
- w-5u Martha
- w-5v Mary
- w-5w Sarah Shield.

w-5d GEORGE WASHINGTON WRIGHT, b. Amherst Co., Va., June 19, 1812, d. Gallia Co., O., July 20, 1859; m. March 5, 1840, by Henry Neal, Esq. in Gallia Co., Ohio, to RACHEL SLAGLE, b. Monroe Co., (W) Va., Jan. 24, 1821, of JOHN and ELIZABETH (WISEMAN) SLAGLE. Rachel died March 1, 1906, at Oakdale, Antelope Co., Nebraska. Mr. Wright was a farmer. Children:

- w-6a Martha Ann (Hunt)
- w-6b Charles
- w-6c Elizabeth (Ansink)
- w-6d John

- w-6e Lafayette
- w-6f Emily (Malsacher)

- w-6h Mary Luella (Keller)
- w-6i Serenna Alice (Keller).

w-6a MARTHA ANN (WRIGHT) HUNT, b. Gallia Co., O., Dec. 30, 1840; d. July 13, 192 m. Nov. 29, 1862, to JOHN HUNT of Gallia Co., O. They left Gallipolis, Ohio, Apr. 3, 1871, with 4 children, arriving at Norfolk, Neb., May 3, 1871. In April of 1872 they moved to a claim on the eastern boundary of Antelope Co., Neb., although it was designated as unorganized territory for a few months after the first papers were filed. They as pioneers in a new country, they farmed and prospered, rearing a large family. At the death of the father he left to each of his children about $10,000. Their children

- w-7a Anzonetta (Mills)

w-7a ANZONETTA (HUNT) MILLS, b. Gallia Co., O., Nov. 10, 1863; m. at Tilden, Neb to GEORGE W. MILLS, who d. Apr. 5, 1924.

Says Mrs. Mills: "I have a really remarkable memory for the things of pioneer Nebraska, and old Gallia County where I was born. I remember Granny Slagle, also my father's stepmother, Mammy Hunt, and his grandmother, Ann Hunt, who came from England, as did her husband, John Hunt. I have collected a big box full of papers along the line; saved all I got for years. I have my membership in the D.A.R. and usually attend the monthly meetings here. My name was put in a record of Nebraska Pioneers published in the anniversary edition of the NEBRASKA FARMER. I have lived in Nebraska 63 years, so I saw a lot of the pioneer days myself. My shoulder was dislocated some time ago and I could write very little for some time and did not finish my family history. I still keep notes.

"I found most interesting SLAGLE history connecting what I had from our records; found it in old histories in D.A.R. library. JOHN SLAGLE never found his family, but I did - in history. He is from Col. HENRY M. SLAGLE, of Revolutionary fame, a prominent man aside from his war service. His father, Jacob, spelled the name SCHLEGEL, as the Germans or Dutch brought it from Europe. They held many local offices in the provincial government before the Revolution."

Children:

Says Edna: "The only time I ever saw my Uncle Charlie Wright was at my wedding; he came with Malzachers and I think stayed two or three days; every one thought he was so nice. I saw much of Uncle John Wright when a child -- always good natured and good company. Then there's that Uncle Lafe Wright who will never be old no matter how many years he passes by. Aunt Luella (Keller) was at my house the night before she left Nebraska, I think in 1921. She had been there on a visit from her home in W. Va. I remember being at her wedding, and of Ben and Claud the first time they came to Hunt's. Ben had a plaid wool dress, pleated skirt, and I think curls, and Claud a white dotted swiss dress. Their mother had to hold them both while she played the organ and sang "They sailed away." After 1900 I saw Grandma Wright only once. She was in her big chair, piecing quilt-blocks. She was always busy, doing something for some one. I remember her at camp meeting in the woods near Oakdale. She had a tent and stayed the two weeks.

Edna's children:

w-11a Lloyd Leslie, b. Dec. 7, 1901

s-2d JOHN SLAGLE, b. Dec. 25, 1793, d. Aug. 2, 1847, was married about 1819 in Monroe Co., Va., to ELIZABETH WISEMAN, (see I-3f) b. May 1, 1798, in Monroe Co., Va., d. July 1, 1877, in Gallia Co., Ohio, daughter of ISAAC WISEMAN II and MARY MAGDALENE ARMENTROUT.

John Slagle was born in Virginia; was in the War of 1812 and twice wounded, but received no pension by reason of papers being lost. During the War of 1812 John and one of the Wiseman boys traveled through the Ohio country to where the Battle of Ft. Meigs was fought. John, on his return home, found that all his people had gone South (to North Carolina or Alabama), and he never heard of them from that time forward. He lived among the Wisemans in Monroe, and after marrying Elizabeth Wiseman went to Gallia Co., Ohio, in 1831, settling across the road from the Gates school house. Later they moved on Camp Creek and lived there until they both died.

Says Theodore Parkins of Rio Grande, Ohio: "John Slagle was one of those great big hearted men that we run into every once in a while. His word was as good as his bond. But he had one bad habit -- he would occasionally go on a spree. While on one of these sprees he went over in the McDaniel neighborhood, with some others, to a temperance meeting. It was during the Washingtonian Movement. Their main object was to get people to sign the total abstinence pledge. Everybody liked John Slagle and they tried to get him to sign, but he opposed their efforts. But he finally -- hardly knowing what he was doing -- to please them, signed it. The next day some one told him that he had signed it, and he stoutly denied it, and to satisfy himself he walked back over there to find out. When he saw his name in his own handwriting he studied a while; then he said, 'Well, what John Slagle says he will do, he will do.' Not long after that he was converted, and was instrumental in organizing the Slagle Class -- now the Bethel Class -- and offered his home as a meeting place. He died not long after that, in the triumph of a Christian faith."

The children of John and Elizabeth Slagle were:

- s-3a Samuel, b. Mar. 7, 1819, d. Mar. 1851, m. MARGARET HANLEY.
- s-3b Rachel, b. Jan. 24, 1821. (See w-5d)

NOTES ON WISEMAN:

A Wiseman genealogy has been published by Dr. B. W. S. Wiseman of Indiana, which we do not at this time have access to, but some data have come to our hands which we do not believe that book contains, and because of the many intermarriages among the Wisemans, Kellers, Wrights and Slagles, we believe it in order to preserve that information here. The Wiseman identifying numbers will be preceded by the letter I, to avoid confusion with the Wrights.

Says Florence (WRIGHT) Gifford: "Grandmother Slagle said that THOMAS WISEMAN, Isaac's father, came across the ocean, and tradition says that he came from Wales."

"Isaac, whose wife was Mary," says Ernest Wiseman of Rio Grande, O., Historian of the Wiseman Family Association, "was the first of whom we have record. He lived in Berks Co., Pa., prior to the Revolution and was a Revolutionary soldier. He had 11 children, and two or three of his sons -- John, Joseph and perhaps Isaac -- were Revolutionary soldiers." (Isaac Wiseman is listed in the Pennsylvania Archives, 6th Series, page 152, in Capt. Peter Kidd's roll by Col. John Marshall, as Second Class Associator of Militia.) They moved down into Rockingham County, Virginia, during the war. Joseph, the oldest son, was in Maryland a while. He was drafted at 17, enlisted twice thereafter, and later hired a substitute. "I think," says Mr. Wiseman, "he finally married in Maryland. Isaac II and his family, soon after the Revolution, removed to Monroe County, Va. Isaac died there, and he and his wife, ELIZABETH DAVIS, were buried in the old Rehoboth Churchyard." Isaac died in 1818.

The children of ISAAC WISEMAN and ELIZABETH DAVIS were:

I-2a Joseph, b. Mar. 29, 1759

I-2b John, b. Aug. 18, 1760, m. SARAH GREEN; went to Ohio.

I-2c Sarah, b. July 17, 1762. No data.

I-2d Isaac. See below.

I-2e Jacob, b. Jan. 12, 1767.

I-2f Rachel, b. Mar. 1, 1769.

I-2g Samuel, b. Feb. 15, 1771, m. POLLY BOWYER May 10, 1797; went to Ohio.

I-2h Abner, b. 1772, m. ISABEL BLANTON 1800; went to Ky.

I-2i Elizabeth, b. 1774; probably to Ky. with Abner.

I-2j Margaret, b. 1777; m. BARTHOLOMEW RAMSEY, 1799, and lived in Nicholas Co., (W.) Va.

I-2k William, b. May 6, 1779. See below.

I-2d ISAAC WISEMAN, b. Berks Co., Pa., June 19, 1764, d. Gallia Co., O., July 14, 1852; m. in Monroe County, (W.) Va., to MARY MAGDALENE ARMENTROUT, who d. Feb. 11, 1858, in Gallia Co., Ohio. Their children:

v-1a MARTINIUS VANDENBEMDEN was born in Holland, and his wife, JOANNE COLATA PORTER, was French, although some writers say that she also was born in Holland. "Three of his brothers," says one writer, "had leaned on the block (in Europe) and their gory heads had been carried off in baskets."

Martinius and his wife emigrated to the United States in 1790, locating first in Philadelphia, and after a short sojourn there traveled overland by wagon, first to the upper Ohio Valley, then to the young French settlement at Gallipolis, about 1792. There he seems to have been received into the inner circles, as in public drawing for the 18 valuable river-front lots Martinius was the first of the lucky ones. In the deed conveying to him his lot he is described as a laborer, yet he must have held an important place in the community, as his name headed the list of residents of Gallipolis who were wanted in the colony of New Bourbon in Missouri, then being founded, the others asked for being doctors, engineers and professional men, or men skilled in some craft. Perhaps he was wanted because of his skill as a hunter, as more than one writer refers to his intimate relationship with Daniel Boone and Simon Kenton, or Girty. It is not written that he answered the call, and the evidence seems to indicate that he spent the remainder of his life in Gallipolis.

The children of MARTINIUS and JOANNE VANDENBEMDEN were:

v-2a Joseph

v-2b John

v-2c Daughter, who died in early life.

v-2a JOSEPH VANDENBEMDEN was born in Holland (Amsterdam, according to one writer; French Flanders according to another), April 1, 1787, and came to America with his parents at three years of age. He grew to manhood in Gallipolis and lived there during the entire course of his long life. "His principal occupation was farming, but in later years he followed the wagon-makers trade, to which he also educated his sons."

"In the War of 1812," says one writer, "Joseph Vanden placed himself on the head of the first company of patriots and volunteered for the defense of liberty and independence. Not until the last flash of arms had echoed did the active young Dutchman come home and hang up his rifle and pouch over the broad mantelpiece."

"On June 15, 1815," writes one chronicler, "Joseph married MARY RANDALL (who was born at Hall's Ferry, Maryland, beside the Chesapeake Bay, Feb. 5, 1795, and died at Gallipolis, O., July 13, 1879), the lassie of his choice, and merry feet flew over the puncheon floor in honor of the occasion; and it was the day when Blucher and Wellington became heroes and Napoleon met his defeat at Waterloo. His life from this time was peaceful, spent in the pursuit of home comforts. He was an intimate friend of Col. Robert Safford."

"He stood upon the bank and hailed the first steamboat that appeared upon the Ohio River with gaping wonder," relates one historian. "He was deputy sheriff in 1817, at the time when James Lane, the only man ever executed in the county, was hanged. The first President who obtained his vote was James Madison, and the last James A. Garfield. The little colony was not quite three years of age when he came, and he lived to see the iron rail wind down the beautiful valley of the Chickamauga, and the iron horse puff and blow where the deer had lived a retired life in its sylvan home and the Indian held undisputed sway."

Mary Randall's people came from the Chesapeake country to Gallipolis in covered wagons and lived in block houses on what is now the public square or park in Gallipolis. She and Joseph lived together for 64 years. Joseph died Monday evening, May 16, 1881, and lies buried in the Pine Street cemetery in Gallipolis. Mary died in 1879, aged 84.

The children of Joseph and Mary (Randall) Vandembenden were:

- v-3a James, b. Apr. 21, 1816, m. June 13, 1841, to MARGARET SIMMONS.
- v-3b Mary Ann, b. Jan. 27, 1821; m. Aug. 22, 1939, to WILLIAM SPRAGUE KERR.
- v-3c Joseph Martinus, b. Aug. 22, 1829.
- v-3d Joanna C., m. Jan. 22, 1843, to SAMUEL B. RATHBURN.
- v-3e Harriett. (No data)
- v-3f Susan, married a BUCK.
- v-3g John. (No data)

v-3c JOSEPH MARTINIUS VANDEN (the name has now been shortened from Vandembenden) was born Aug. 22, 1829, at Gallipolis, Ohio, where he spent his life. He is listed as a carpenter in his death certificate, and it is understood that he was a wagon-maker by trade. He was married to MARY ELLEN HARPER, who was born Feb. 28, 1834, and died Jan. 30, 1896. Joseph died March 23, 1894. The children were:

- v-4a Mary Emrillis, b. Oct. 4, 1854, m. late in life to T. A. PLUMMER. No issue.
- v-4b Francis Joseph, b. May 6, 1856, m. Dec. 6, 1882, to NETTIE ROTHGEB.
- v-4c William Harper, b. March 28, 1858.
- v-4d Rose Ellen, b. Mar. 22, 1860, m. late in life to J. W. GEE. No issue.
- v-4e Harry Edwin, b. June 25, 1868, no children.

v-4c WILLIAM HARPER VANDEN was born in Gallia County, Ohio, March 28, 1858, and died there May 26, 1914. He was married December 25, 1885, to EMMA R. BERRY, of DAVID W. and MARTHA (McKOWN) BERRY, by Rev. W. H. Gibbons in Gallia County. Both are buried in the churchyard of Calvary Baptist Church at Rio Grande, Ohio. Mr. Vanden was a farmer, and a teacher of note, taking much interest in educational matters. Children:

- v-5a Ada Blanche (Keller), b. Dec. 1, 1886. (See 227-a)
- v-5b Mary Marguerite, m. LOUIS ELMONT STEVENS, and has 2 children:
 - v-6a Dorothy (m. RUSSELL DAVIS)
 - v-6b William
- v-5c Ruth Elise, m. KENNETH E. VERMILLION, and has 2 children:
 - v-7a Joseph
 - v-7b Emma Lou
- v-5d Harper Berry, m. KATHERINE FRESHCORN, both deceased; no children.

B I R T H S

"Of all God's blessings, the choicest is satisfactory children."

--Old Keller Tradition.

Here are to be recorded all the births in the family.

MARRIAGES

"Let no day, harsh howe'er it be,
Pass o'er our house,
With no endearment, praise or compliment
From spouse to spouse."

--Old Keller Tradition.

Here are to be recorded the marriages in the family.

DEATHS

"Like one who wraps the draperies of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant sleep."

--Bryant.

Here is to be recorded the date of the death of each member of the family.

C H R I S T E N I N G S

"As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

--Holy Bible.

Here are to be recorded the christenings of the children of the family and their dedication to Almighty God.

NOTABLE EVENTS

Here are to be set down events to be remembered -- graduations, promotions, outstanding accomplishments, war records; also extraordinary floods, fires, storms, etc.
